L O N D O N,

September 19. It is ſaid that a certain Dutch lady, lately come over, will appear in jewels, on the coronation day, to the value of Three Hundred Thouſand Pounds.

Some further Particulars relating to the Coronation of their Majeſties.

Sept. 22. Their Majeſties and the Princeſs Dowager went through the Park from St. James's in chairs, and their attendants in coaches, at nine o'clock this morning, to Weſtminſter Hall, from whence they went about Eleven to the Abbey, where their Majeſties were crowned, and about five got back to the Hall, where they dined in a moſt magnificent manner, and in the preſence of ſuch a number of Spectators, as is ſcarce credible, and all as richly dreſſed as poſſible. The whole way of the proceſſion was lined with ſpectators upon ſcaffolds built on purpoſe, and every one made a point of appearing richly dreſſed. Upon the whole, it made the moſt ſplendid appearance that can poſſibly be conceived. Coaches were going all night, and from the vaſt number, they could not go above a mile in three hours.

Eight hundred gold medals were ſtruck, 400 for the King, and 400 for the Queen; one half of which were diſtributed in the Abbey, and the other in the Hall; beſides which a great quantity of ſilver ones were ſtruck and toſſed amongſt the populace.

Viſcount Mandeville,	Marquis of Hartington,
Lord Howard,	Lord Gray,
Lord Beauchamp,	Lord Newnham.

And at the end of it, the Maſter of the Robes, the Hon. James Brudenell.

The golden ſpurs were borne by the Earl of Suſſex, with the Duke of Marlborough on his right, carrying the Sceptre with the Croſs; and the Duke of Kingſton on his left, with St. Edward's ſtaff.

The Queen's Crown was borne before her by the Duke of Bolton; the Sceptre with the Croſs, by the Duke of Rutland; and the ivory rod with the Dove, by the Earl of Northampton. Her Majeſty had on her head a circlet of gold, adorned with jewels. On her right hand was Dr. Thomas, Biſhop of Wincheſter, and on her left Dr. Hayter, Biſhop of Norwich. Her train was ſupported by her Royal Highneſs Princeſs Auguſta, aſſiſted by ſix Earls daughters, viz.

Lady Mary Gray,	Lady Selina Haſtings,
Lady Eliz. Montague,	Lady Heneage Finch,
Lady Jane Steuart,	Lady Mary Douglas.

Princeſs Auguſta's Coronet was borne by the Marquis of Carnarvon.

The Dukes of Acquitaine and Normandy were repreſented by Sir William Breton, and Sir Thomas Robinſon, Bart.

Two thouſand eight hundred of the foot guards attended on duty this day during the coronation.

A ſmall tent is fixed on the left ſide of the platform in Old Palace-yard, for Lord Ligonier, as commanding officer of the guard on duty, where he is to pay his ſalute to their Majeſties as they paſs in proceſſion."

The King has actually in his pay, and under his command, by ſea and land, in Europe, Aſia, Africa, and America, about 400,000 armed men, comprehending the men maintained in Pruſſia by ſubſidies, and the privateers.

Extract of a Letter from a Pruſſian Officer in Anterior Pomerania, dated September 4.

"Yeſterday part of the Swediſh army encamped near Rebelow, and their main body was at Baltikow. Col. Belling was poſted at Jugow, and Gen. Stutterheim at Golchen. In order to diſlodge Col. Belling, the enemy reunited their two camps in the night, and advanced againſt him that morning by break of day. This commandant was fully apprized of this movement, and of the enemy's ſtrength, amounting to 8000 men, whoſe plan of attack he likewiſe knew; yet he judged it proper to reconnoitre them himſelf, and to execute a coup de main if poſſible againſt their vanguard. He accordingly attacked it, and made priſoners a captain, a lieutenant, 3 ſerjeants, with 70 foot-hunters, and ten huſſars. Mr. Belling then retreated in good order by the paſs of Clempeno, in order to ſupport the diſpoſitions made for maintaining that important paſs. Two independent companies were poſted there. The advantage of our ulterior enterprize depended on the keeping of that poſt; the loſing it would have ruined our troops, as the enemy, by their ſuperiority, might have drove them from one poſt after another: It was therefore incumbent on us to defend it to the laſt extremity, and Capt. Hulſen received inſtructions in conſequence.

The enemy's army advanced againſt the paſs with their heavy artillery; their cannonade was furious, and ours did not fall ſhort of it. Captain Hulſen ſtood the fire of their cannon and platoons of muſketry two hours with the greateſt reſolution, and forced them to retire with conſiderable loſs. Gen. Ehrenſchwert's army marched back to Rebelow, and Gen. Stakelberg went to Demmin. We occupy at preſent all the paſſages of the Tollenſee, which the enemy no longer diſpute with us. They are now obliged to draw ſubſiſtence from their own territory."

The laſt advices from Germany ſay, that a courier had been intercepted with a letter from M. Broglio to the Duke de Choiſeul, in which the former ſays, that he diſapproved of attempting the conqueſt of Hanover this year, as the carriage of proviſion and forage, which it behoved his army to take with it, would amount to much more than all the contributions that could be raiſed in a country already exhauſted; and that, beſides, he could not promiſe to be able to penetrate into it, notwithſtanding his ſuperiority. "I have (ſays he) a huge machine to guide, which unhappily is much out of repair: I cannot pretend to advance till it be put in order, and ſhall remain on the defenſive during the reſt of the campaign, and endeavour to reſtore order to our army, unleſs I am ordered to the contrary. This is my opinion in the preſent critical ſituation, when the glory, and in ſome meaſure the ſafety of the nation is at ſtake."

This plainly ſhews that the Marſhal is afraid of loſing the laurels he gained in winter; and that the jealouſy among the French general officers increaſes ſo much, that he cannot promiſe himſelf ſucceſs in any thing. So that if this letter be genuine, we may look upon the campaign as finiſhed for the Marſhal's army; and the Prince de Soubiſe will ſoon be tired of his enterpriſe againſt Munſter.

Sunday the purſer of the Lathem Indiaman came to the India houſe with advice of the arrival of the following ſhips on Saturday morning off Beachy-head, viz. the Suffolk, Lewen; Valentine, Fernell; Pocock, Debuke; and Oxford, Webber, jun. from China; Onſlow, Hinde; and Lathem, Muffett, from Coaſt and Bay. The above ſhips ſailed for the Downs.

M. Lally, the French general, is on board the Onſlow.

France has already loſt all her ſettlements in Aſia; has only two ſmall iſlands more in Africa, Mauritius and Bourbon, which may be eaſily taken in a few days; and Martinico, and part of St. Domingo, in America; for Louiſiana may be reckoned in our hands, as it requires only a detachment of 2000 men to take poſſeſſion of that vaſt country, being incapable of any reſiſtance.

The French finances are exhauſted, her navy deſtroyed, commerce annihilated, and glory diminiſhed.

Baſſeterre (in St. Chriſtophers) September 26.

Upon the 24th inſtant, a ſchooner with ſugar and coffee, was ſent into the road of Baſſeterre by his Majeſty's ſhip Dublin's Tender Experiment, commanded by Mr. Low. This ſchooner was cut out of the Grenades by Mr. Low, notwithſtanding the fire from two batteries. He went in his boat to reconnoitre the place, and to ſee if any veſſels were there; but found no more than this ſchooner, which he boarded and brought off, without any loſs to himſelf, but the maſter of the ſchooner was killed, and one of her men ſhot in the ſhoulder.

October 7. Upon the 3d inſt. arrived in the road of Baſſeterre, a ſchooner with proviſions, bound to Martinico from St. Euſtatius, taken by his Majeſty's ſloop Virgin, Charles Buckner, Eſq; commander; and upon the 5th arrived a ſchooner with proviſions bound to the Grenades from St. Euſtatius, taken by his Majeſty's ſhip Stirling Caſtle's Tender Adventurer, commanded by Lieutenant Philips.

October 10. Upon the 8th inſt. the following prizes arrived in the road of Baſſeterre, viz.

CHARLES-TOWN (South-Carolina) November 4.

By gentlemen arrived in town from the army we learn, that every thing continues quiet to the weſtward; and that the Cherokees behave with great humility and ſubmiſſiveneſs.

November 7. The camp near Fort Prince George broke up the 16th ult. when Col. Grant marched all the troops for Ninety-Six, where they arrived the 25th: He left the garriſon of Fort Prince George, conſiſting of about 100 Independents, under the command of Capt. Mackintoſh and Enſign Cameron, well ſupplied with every thing.---The 28th all the privates of Col. Middleton's regiment, to about 200 who continue in the ſervice, were paid off and diſcharged; and on the 30th thoſe that were at Ninety-ſix, ſet out for the Congarees.---The 29th Lieut. Parker arrived in camp from town; and the next day the 4 companies of the 17th and 22d regiments, commanded by Captains John Campbell, Chriſtopher French, Sir Henry Seton, and Quintin Kennedy, likewiſe marched for Congarees, where we hear they arrived laſt Friday: They may be expected in town on Tueſday or Wedneſday next: The tranſports in which they are to embark are ready; and all the others are come down from Strawberry.---Capt. Napier of Col. Burton's regiment, with about 300 men, is alſo come to the Congarees; the reſt of the troops, it is ſaid, will remain at Ninety-ſix, till the Little-Carpenter returns from the nation, who is expected there about the 9th inſtant, and may be in town about the end of the month.

November 14. The laſt accounts from the camp at Ninety ſix, are, That Tiftowih, of Keehowih, was returned to his town near Fort Prince George, with 200 Indians, to reſettle there.---That the Little Carpenter's wife, and ſome of her relations, with their attendants, were arrived at Fort Prince George, waiting the return of that faithful Indian from the nation, who was expected in 7 or 8 nights.

Extract of a letter from Ninety-ſix, dated Oct 31.

"Beſides above 4 months proviſions left by Col. Grant at Fort Prince George, the day before yeſterday a large ſupply of flour, with 80 fine hogs, ſet out from hence for the uſe of that garriſon, who, when they receive them, will have about twelve months proviſions.---It is ſaid, that an expreſs from that fort, came up with the army on the 24th, at Coronacre, with advice, that the Indians had ſtolen 13 out of 23 head of black cattle left there; which, if true, ſhews that they are very hungry."

Yeſterday arrived off this bar with diſpatches from New-York, his Majeſty's ſhip Dover of 44 guns, commanded by the Hon. Capt. Percival; and this morning ſhe came in, drawing no more water than ſome of the 20 gun frigates.---This ſhip, it is ſaid, is come to convey the 4 companies of the Royal and Burton's regiment on the intended expedition, as ſoon as they can arrive in town and embark, which may be in about three weeks.

On the 21ſt of laſt month went into the Havanna, and was to proceed from thence about the 21ſt inſtant on her voyage from Port-au-Prince for France, the French king's frigate Licorne, of 28 guns and 200 men, commanded by M. Lambert, with one tier of fine ſugars on board, and filled up with indico, on the merchants account, to whom ſhe was lent; which frigate had made the following captures between the 1ſt and 11th ult. viz.

1. A ſloop from Jamaica for North-Carolina, one Williams maſter. Ranſomed.

2. A ſloop from Jamaica for Philadelphia, one Miller maſter; who roſe upon the enemy, killed the prize-maſter, and retook the veſſel.

3. A brig from Jamaica, laden with ſugars, for Glaſgow. Ranſomed.

4. A ſloop from the Muſquito ſhore, John Fiſher maſter, laden with mahogany, and bound for this port. Ranſomed.

5. The ſhip Hercules, William Wilſon maſter, of Philadelphia, loaded with ſugars from Jamaica, for London.

6. The ſhip Beſborough, of Dublin, ---------- Jones, maſter, laden with ſugars, and bound for Liverpool from Jamaica.

7. The ſloop William, John Boye, maſter, of and for Virginia from Jamaica; which Monſ. Lambert gave to 20 of his priſoners, who left Havanna the 25th ult. and arrived in her on the 9th inſtant at Savannah in Georgia, and from whom we have this intelligence.

The 4 laſt veſſels were carried into the Havanna.---The two ſugar-loaded ſhips, Hercules and Beſborough, were to proceed for France with the frigate.

Among the priſoners are, Capt. Wilſon of the Hercules;---Capt. Reuben Moore, late of the brig Sally of this port, who was taken on his voyage from New-Haven for Madeira, by the Parfaite privateer, M. Brial commander, of Martinico, ſo long ago as the 2d of April laſt, carried in there the 18th, and yet never heard of till now;---and Capt. John Quay, late of the ſnow Scorpion, of and for Liverpool from Jamaica, whoſe veſſel was loſt on the Jordines the 18th paſt.---Capt. Moore informs, that while he was at Martinico, the French were much alarmed there with the apprehenſions of a viſit from Sir James Douglas, and erected ſeveral new batteries on that occaſion; that they had removed all their valuable effects and merchandize to a fortified hill in the country, whither they alſo ſent the cargoes of all proviſion-veſſels as ſoon as they arrived, unloading them inſtantly; and that they had then 89 privateers out. He remained there till the 10th of June, when he got a paſſage in a veſſel bound to Port-au-Prince; from thence he went in a Spaniſh veſſel to Carthagena, where he was in Auguſt laſt, and ſays the Spaniards were at that time diligently repairing and adding to the fortifications, mounting cannon, &c. and had four ſhips of the line and two frigates. From thence he proceeded to Jamaica, and was a paſſenger in the William, by which he again became a priſoner, and was carried into the Havanna, where he did not obſerve any new works carrying on as at Carthagena, but ſaw 9 ſhips of the line, chiefly of 74 guns.---He deſcribes the Licorne to us as---a long low ſhip, with a lion head, black ſides, and white bottom, her ſtern raking much, bowſprit raiſed remarkably high, mounting 26 nine and 2 twelve pounders on one deck, but pierced for 32 guns, and carrying a driver-ſail.

Laſt Tueſday arrived here the ſnow Jane, of London, George Curtis maſter, from Quebec, who was taken about 60 leagues from this Bar, in lat. 33. 4. north, on the 23d paſt, by L'Entreprenant, a privateer ſnow of Martinico, commanded by the Chevalier Auguſte de Mezederne, of the order of St. Louis, and ranſomed his veſſel for 200l. ſterling. The enemy plundered his veſſel of every thing, even to the captain and crew's bedding and cloaths, while he was negotiating the ranſom. He deſcribes the privateer as---a long, very low, ſingle-decked ſnow, with a fiddle-head, black ſides and white bottom, mounting 14 ſix-pounders, and carrying 160 men: She had been but 15 days out from Martinico when ſhe took him, and took a Guiney-man at the beginning of her cruize. While he was on board he heard that ſhe would proceed on a cruize off New-York or Philadelphia; but by the courſe ſhe ſteered after ſhe left him, he imagines her ſtation to be about Bermuda.

Laſt Saturday evening, about 25 leagues from this bar, Capt. Curtis ſaw a ſnow, full of water, with her maſts ſtanding, her fore-top-ſail up, and colours flying, but when he came near her, found there was no body on board. The next day he ſaw her again, overſet, but the ſea ran ſo high, and he was ſo weakly manned, that he could not attempt any farther diſcovery what ſhe was. He ſays, ſhe ſeemed almoſt new, of about 180 tons burthen, had bright ſides, her quick-work all painted red, quarters yellow, a peaſe-porridge bottom, and boot-top'd white.

Beſides his Majeſty's ſhips Dover, Nightingale, and Zephyr, and 8 merchant veſſels in his Majeſty's ſervice, there are now here only 18 ſea veſſels, viz. 4 ſhips, 3 ſnows, 2 brigantines, 2 ſchooners, and 7 ſloops; ſeveral of which are near loaded.

PHILADELPHIA, December 3.

By Captain Tilden, from St. Chriſtophers, we learn, that Captain Taylor, in the Letter of Marque Ship Britannia, from this Port for Guadaloupe, loſt all his Topmaſts in a violent Gale of Wind: That afterwards he was attacked by a French Privateer Sloop of ten Guns, and above 100 Men, which he fought, off and on, from about Ten in the Morning till Night, in which Time he was badly wounded in the Groin: That the Enemy followed the Ship the whole Night, and the next Morning was joined by another French Privateer Sloop of 14 Guns, and 170 Men, when they both attack'd the Britannia again, one on each Side; upon which (Capt. Taylor by his Wound being rendered incapable of fighting the Ship any longer) the Mate, who behaved well, but finding it impoſſible to do any Thing againſt ſo unequal a Force, was obliged to ſtrike, and the Ship was carried to Martinico, when Captain Taylor was ſent to the Hoſpital, where he was well uſed, and likely to do well. The ſame Privateers took, and carried likewiſe into Martinico, three Veſſels from London, a Snow and two Ships; the firſt of ten Guns, Capt. St. JOHN (in Antigua) September 30.
Extract of a Letter from St. Croix, Auguſt 16.

CAPTAIN Hanſon, of the privateer brig Mars, unfortunately met with a French ſhip of 26 twelve-pounders, which he engaged cloſely for a long time. Both veſſels were much hurt, and parted by conſent. Capt. Hanſon's boom was cut into ſeven pieces, and he had many men wounded.---He has taken a French privateer, of 10 guns.

October 14. Since our laſt have arrived here a brig from Leith, having been taken by the enemy, and re-taken by his Majeſty's ſloop the Antigua; and alſo a large ſhip from Amſterdam, brought in by the Nancy privateer for further examination.

October 21. From Guadaloupe we hear that the three following ſhips, bound from London to this place, have lately been taken by two French privateers, and carried to Martinico, viz. The Sally, Capt. Leſly, the Expedition, Capt. Duer, and the Charming Sally, Capt. Bampfield.---Capt. Leſly made a gallant defence, and was unfortunately killed in the engagement; but it is ſaid Capt. Duer, and Capt. Bampfield ſtruck without any reſiſtance, though their ſhips were much ſuperior to Capt. Leſly's.---Thoſe 3 ſhips are reckoned to be worth 80,000 l. ſterling.

A Jamaica man, who had the courage to defend his ſhip, met with a different fate; though attacked by one of the largeſt privateers belonging to Martinico, it was with difficulty ſhe eſcaped from him, and that after having 60 of her men killed and wounded.

A ſhip from Philadelphia, has alſo been taken, and carried into Martinico.

A brig bound from Virginia to England, which was taken by a French privateer, has been re-taken by the Engliſh ſailors that were left on board, and brought to Guadaloupe.

Since our laſt his Majeſty's ſhip the Amazon, has ſent in a brig from Europe, and the Dover privateer a ſloop and a ſchooner.

October 28. The privateer Triſtram Shandy, which belonged to two clergymen and two merchants in this town, has been taken and carried to Martinico.

Extract of a letter from Capt. Bampfield, to Meſſieurs Galloway and Knewſtub.

Gentlemen, Martinico, Oct. 14, 1761.

"I am ſorry to acquaint you of my being brought in here; being taken the 7th inſt. about 50 leagues to windward of Antigua, in company with Captain Leſly and Capt. Duer. Capt. Leſly was killed in the engagement, and one of his paſſengers (Mr. Walker) was thrown over board alive. My ſon and Capt. Curlett's nephew are both in priſon, though I could have permiſſion for them to walk the town, but have nothing to maintain them. There are now in priſon here near 200 men, beſides maſters about the town. If you have an opportunity, pray make me a remittance, &c. JOHN BAMPFIELD."

November 4. On the 27th ult. about 9 o'clock in the evening, his Majeſty's ſhip the Griffin, Capt. Taylor, run upon the rocks off Berbuda, and was irrecoverably loſt; being in full chaſe after two French privateers, and ſo near them that all her guns were caſt looſe, and made ready to pour into the enemy, it being expected that a few minutes would have brought them cloſe along-ſide.---It is ſaid the Griffin had chaſed the privateers the greateſt part of the day without diſcovering the land, nor did her officers perceive any danger till a few minutes before ſhe ſtruck. Fourteen of her men were loſt, and it was with ſome difficulty the reſt ſaved themſelves; and we hear Capt. Taylor loſt above 2000 l. which he had on board in caſh.

His Majeſty's ſloop Virgin has taken and ſent into our harbour a French letter of marque ſloop of 10 guns, and 32 men, laden with ſugar, &c. And from St. Chriſtophers we hear, that their privateers never met with greater ſucceſs than of late, the French being now buſily employed in ſending the produce of Martinico down to St. Euſtatius.

One Hundred priſoners have been received from Martinico in exchange for the late Governor of Dominico and his family.

By the Earl of Halifax Packet, Capt. Jefferies, arrived at New-York from Falmouth, we have the following Advices.

G L O G A U, September 18.

WHILE the combined army of Auſtrians and Ruſſians were boaſting that they held his Majeſty priſoner in his camp, he detached from thence on the 10th Gen. Platen, with a corps of horſe and foot, who paſſed the Oder, and marched with ſuch celerity that he arrived on the 15th at Koblien, where the Ruſſians had various magazines, which he ſet on fire; he then proſecuted his march to Koſlin, where they had 5000 waggons parked, and covered by 4000 regular troops, theſe he inſtantly attacked, and, after a ſhort reſiſtance, entirely routed, making Brigadier Czerepow, who commanded them, three Majors, twenty other officers, with 2000 men, priſoners, moſt of the other part of the corps being put to the ſword in the purſuit; he took likewiſe two pieces of cannon, and five obuſſiers. If Gen. Butterlin and Gen. Laudohn had continued together two days more, he would have had time to have deſtroyed all their magazines.

Prentzlow, Sept. 20. There are letters from Berlin which ſay, that beſides the magazines already mentioned to have been deſtroyed by Gen. Platen, the large magazine of the Ruſſians, in the town of Poſnania, has been ruined; and that a cheſt is alſo taken, with 80,000 rubles.

From the London Gazettes of October 3 and 10, 1761.

Madrid, Sept. 4. A report having been ſpread here, upon the arrival of the laſt letters from France, as if there was reaſon to apprehend an immediate rupture between our Court and that of Great-Britain; we underſtand that the Spaniſh miniſters, in a converſation which they had lately with the Earl of Briſtol, ambaſſador extraordinary from his Britannick Majeſty, expreſſed their concern thereat, and declared very explicitly to his excellency, that, on the part of their Court, there was not the leaſt ground for ſuch apprehenſions, as the Catholic King had, at no time, been more intent upon cultivating a good correſpondence with England, than in the preſent conjuncture; and, at the ſame time, informed the Earl of Briſtol, that orders had been ſent to Monſ. Manſo, governor of San Roque, to reprimand ſuch of the inhabitants under his juriſdiction, as had encouraged the illegal protection given to the French privateer row-boats, under the cannon of a Spaniſh fort.

Hague, Sept 29.---Our laſt letters from the country of Heſſe mention, that Prince Ferdinand, with the allied army, was the 24th in the neighbourhood of Caſſel, and the Hereditary Prince at Holtzdorff, four leagues diſtant from Marbourg. But we have as yet no particulars of any operations that can be depended on. Upon the news of the Allies having repaſſed the Dymel, M. Broglio is ſaid to have quitted his head quarters at Eimbeck, and to have marched with his whole force towards Caſſel.

Hague, October 6. By the lateſt accounts received here from the army in Heſſe, which are of the 26th of September, Prince Ferdinand's head quarters were at Wilhelmſtahl, near Caſſel. The detachments which the Hereditary Prince had ſent along the Fulda and the Lahne, to deſtroy the enemy's magazines, have obliged M. Broglio to ſend a conſiderable body of troops to re-inforce Lieut. General de Stainville, who encamps under the cannon of Caſſel, at which place the Marſhal himſelf was arrived, whilſt the reſt of his army was encamped between Gottingen and the Werra.

The French, after committing great exceſſes in the Principality of Eaſt Frieſland, had provoked the Peaſants to riſe in arms againſt them, which had obliged the firſt corps to abandon the country. They are, however, ſince returned in greater numbers, and have put a garriſon of 800 men into Embden. A detachment of the French light troops has likewiſe entered Oſnabrug, where they have demanded the moſt heavy and exorbitant Contributions.

The Ruſſians are certainly marched to Poeſen; and ſince they ſeparated from Gen. Laudohn, his Pruſſian Majeſty has levelled the intrenchments about his camp; from which it is imagined, that he intends to remove ſoon from thence.

St. James's, October 9.

The Right Hon. William Pitt having reſigned the ſeals into the King's hands, His Majeſty was this day pleaſed to appoint the Earl of Egremont to be one of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State. And, in conſideration of the great and important ſervices of the ſaid Mr. Pitt, His Majeſty has been graciouſly pleaſed to direct, That a warrant be prepared for granting to the Lady Heſter Pitt, his Wife, a Barony of Great-Britain, by the name, ſtile and title, of Baroneſs of Chatham, to herſelf, and of Baron of Chatham to her heirs male; and alſo to confer upon the ſaid William Pitt, Eſq; an annuity of Three Thouſand Pounds ſterling, during his own life, and that of Lady Heſter Pitt, and their ſon John Pitt, Eſq;

This day Earl Temple, keeper of the King's privy ſeal, reſigned the ſaid ſeal into His Majeſty's hands.

[Thus far the two Gazettes.]

Vienna, Sept. 23. The Ruſſian army has repaſſed the Oder in the neighbourhood of Steinen. M. Beck has ſeparated from them with thirty ſquadrons of Auſtrians. M. Laudohn ſtill occupies the ſame camp with 166 ſquadrons, and 18000 Ruſſians. M. Daun has reinforced the poſt of Dippolſwalde, in Saxony. This general has informed the court, that Prince Henry of Pruſſia is on the point of marching, and that his baggage and ovens have been ſent to Torgau. The army of the Empire has ſtill its center at Welda, and detachments at Ronnebourg, Altenbourg, Zeitz, and about Leipſic.

Saxony, Sept. 24. Some of the Ruſſian Army has ſeparated from that of M. Laudohn. Several motions are making, which excite our attention. This general has, it is ſaid, received orders to ſend a conſiderable body of his troops to Count Daun. The King of Pruſſia being informed of this ſtep, has demoliſhed his intrenchments, and M. Laudohn is intrenching in his turn.

Hamburgh, Sept. 29. If we may depend upon letters from Brandenbourg, by the laſt poſt, the Ruſſian army has not only repaſſed the Oder, but probably arrived on the 20th in the neighbourhood of Poſnania. The ſame advices aſſure us, that the Pruſſians, under General Platen, were near Colberg, and that the place makes a vigorous defence. From another quarter we learn, that on the 20th General Laudohn had attacked one of the wings of the Pruſſian army, but the exceſſive fire from a maſked battery ſoon obliged him to give over his enterprize, with the loſs of a great many men. They add, that a few days after this attempt, the king reſolved to put his army in motion, and was ſuppoſed to have ſome project of the utmoſt importance in view.

Francfort, Sept. 29. The light troops of the Allies are ſtrolling all over the country of Heſſe, and carry off abundance of proviſion and ammunition deſtined for the French. Among other captures, they have carried off a large quantity of wine, and a box containing 200 gold watches, and a large quantity of jewels.

Weſel, Oct. 3. M. Soubiſe encamps at Coesfeld; his advanced guard occupies Lingen, Tecklenbourg, Hoya, Vecht, and all Eaſt Frizeland, and is raiſing immenſe contributions. They are ruining all the rich magazines, and have ordered all the fineſt horſes from towns and villages to be brought in to them. Two hundred and fifty of the Allies have been taken in Embden; and Oſnabrug, not able to ſatisfy the demands of the French, has been given up to pillage. And on Wedneſday laſt 112 waggons, loaded with woollen and linen cloth and plate, were brought in here, taken from thence. Moppen, a little fortified town near Embs, where the Allies have a large magazine, is inveſted, and going to be beſieged. The French light troops make excurſions as far as Bremen.

L O N D O N.

October 5. According to ſome letters from Berlin, a new treaty between the King of Pruſſia and the Grand Signior, was concluded the 22d of laſt June, and great preparations of war are making at Conſtantinople, and other places in the Turkiſh Empire. The firſt treaty between theſe two powers was ſigned about three months before.

Oct. 6. Some late preparations of the Spaniards at the Havannah, and their notorious impartiality to the French, occaſion ſome very ſerious ſpeculations among their American neighbours, who have not forgot their behaviour in the Bay of Campeachy, or their ſeveral attempts on our northern provinces.

Four Spaniſh men of war, three of 70 guns, and one of 64, ſailed from Cadiz on the 27th of Auguſt, but their deſtination is a ſecret; and the ſame account ſays, that Admiral Saunders, with 18 men of war, ſailed from Gibraltar on the 20th of the ſame month; that he ſteered towards the Levant, but in the night tacked about; and that all his ſhips are ſtationed at different capes, from that of St. Vincent's to the Streights.

Oct. 7. Private letters from Hamburgh aſſure, that the principal cauſe of the ſeparation of the Ruſſian and Auſtrian armies was a kind of pique and jealouſy between Laudohn and Butterlin about the command, and the open antipathy of their reſpective troops to each other.

All the artificers in the King's yards are ordered to work double tides, Sundays alſo, to fit out the men of war.

Yeſterday both houſes of parliament met at Weſtminſter, and were further prorogued by commiſſion to the 3d of November, when they are to ſit for the diſpatch of buſineſs.

It is ſaid Admiral Rodney is appointed to command on an expedition in the Weſt-Indies, under whom two Commodores will alſo act, and that he will ſoon ſail with the Marlborough, ſome ſhips of the line, and frigates.

People were ſo affected this morning, with the news of a certain great commoner's reſigning his public employment, that many thouſands in the city were in tears.

Oct. 9. We hear that every ſhip of war in our ſervice is to be ſpedily put into commiſſion.

The people of England have ſo true a notion of the deceitful nature of the French, and ſo juſt a ſuſpicion of all overtures or propoſals of peace from that faithleſs nation, that a complete victory, gained over their army in Germany, would ſcarce have cauſed a greater or more general rejoicing in this kingdon, than the departure of M. Buſſy out of it; as it put an end to all French negotiating and intriguing, and ſeemed to aſſure them, that the many glorious acquiſitions, gained in the courſe of this war, would not be all negotiated away, and loſt again, by a diſhonourable peace.

A letter from Cadiz to a merchant in town, ſays: "The partiality of the Spaniards to our profeſſed enemies the French, which before was always too evident, becomes now every day more and more notorious. Our invoices and bills of lading are examined with the greateſt rigour, our permits detained on the moſt trifling pretences, our goods frequently obliged to lie in the ware-houſes for want of being examined by the proper officers, and every method uſed to our diſcouragement, while the French are continually experiencing ſome new token of their favour, and the ſhips of that nation permitted to paſs almoſt duty free. We know not in what theſe things will end; but from the frequency of the expreſſes, which we are aſſured are conſtantly paſſing from Madrid to Paris, and the great preparations making in Ferrol and other ports of Spain, for fitting out fleets, the deſtination of which is kept an entire ſecret, we look upon a war between Great-Britain and this crown as almoſt inevitable."

It is ſaid that Monſ. Buſſy, the French miniſter, ſo well improved his time while he was here, that he negotiated a very conſiderable loan for the French King at ten per cent. well ſecured to the lenders, to be paid off, both principal and intereſt, within twelve months after the war is ended. Many perſons are ſuſpected on this occaſion, but it would not be prudent to point out any of them, till we have better authority than mere rumour.

The public in general, on hearing that Mr. PITT had reſigned the ſeals to his Majeſty, expreſſed their ſorrow in a moſt lively manner, at the removal of a man, whom they have long conſidered as the father of his country; and ſo great was their hatred to any faction, who oppoſed his wiſe and prudent meaſures, that on the evening of the news of his reſignation, abundance of gentlemen, both in private and public, toaſted confuſion to his enemies, hoping that he would ſoon be reinſtated into that high office, which he has always diſcharged ſo much to the glory and true intereſt of Great-Britain.

It is ſaid that a certain great commander, who lately reſigned his employment, has refuſed acting again in that capacity, unleſs the plan that he has propoſed for the vigorous proſecution of the war is agreed to.

Oct. 10. Whereas many falſe and ſcandalous ſuggeſtions (with a deſign to inflame the minds of the people) were inſerted in the public papers of yeſterday, repreſenting, among other things, that Monſ. de Buſſy is returning here ſoon, and that a peace would be concluded with the French, on any terms they ſhould offer; we can, from good authority, affirm, that there is not the leaſt foundation for theſe infamous reports: There appears to the contrary, ſo little deſire at preſent, of concluding peace, on any terms which can be conſidered as diſadvantageous or diſhonourable to this country, that we are aſſured there are preparations now making for carrying on the war, with even greater vigour than ever.

We are informed, that part of the buſineſs of the court of common council next Tueſday will be, to propoſe giving the thanks of the city of London to the Right Hon. Mr. Pitt, for his many ſignal ſervices done to this nation during his adminiſtration; and at the ſame time to expreſs their concern for the loſs of them, in future, to his King and country.

They acknowledge, in letters from Vienna, that there has been no ſuch ſcarcity of proviſions in the King of Pruſſia's army as they had imagined: The Duke de St. Elizabeth, miniſter from the King of the Two Sicilies, who paſſed through the Pruſſian camp, in his way from Warſaw to Vienna, and paid his reſpects to the King, was ſurprized at the fine appearance his troops made, and the admirable order in which his camp was kept.

From Paris they give broad hints that they are abſolutely ſure of being aſſiſted by Spain, and that the negotiation for this purpoſe was concluded ſo long ago as the 26th of Auguſt.

A report prevails at Paris, that in conſideration of the ceſſion of the iſland of Minorca, Spain is to lend his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty a fleet of forty ſhips of the line, and to accommodate him farther with a loan of forty millions.

His Majeſty was pleaſed to order in council, that in the ſervice of the church of England, where the royal family is appointed to be particularly prayed for, the following form and order ſhall be obſerved, viz. OUR GRACIOUS QUEEN CHARLOTTE, HER ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCESS DOWAGER OF WALES, AND ALL THE ROYAL FAMILY.

It has been induſtriouſly propagated, ſince it has been known that Mr. P. has really reſigned, that the Spaniards have no intention of breaking with us, or aſſiſting the French, which we ſhould be very glad to find true; but we cannot conceive that all their great preparations, which every mail brings an account of, can be for nothing; they would hardly put themſelves to that expence, as they know very well we ſhould never attempt moleſting them, were they not to give us ſtrong room for ſuſpicion by their preparations for war; which is a ſtrong indication of their intention of aſſiſting the French, or breaking with us when opportunity offers; for they have no occaſion for their ſhips of war for any other purpoſe, except a few to guard againſt the Barbary ſtates.

From the inactivity of our fleets for theſe many months paſt (ſince the reduction of Belleiſle) one would ſuſpect there is ſome foundation for a report, that a certain perſon ſhould ſay, that his advice had been diſregarded for ſome time paſt.

We ſhould be glad to hear that the ſo long talk'd of expedition fleet had ſailed, for we are in ſome apprehenſion if it does not ſail ſoon, the weſterly winds will ſet in, which may prevent its getting out when ready for ſailing.

We can aſſure the public, that a certain noble duke, remarkable for his generous and benevolent diſpoſition, has kindly interpoſed his good offices to reconcile thoſe differences, which we hope will not long ſubſiſt among the great.

The loſs ſuſtained by the Ruſſians, in the late affair with M. Platen, by the ruining their magazines, is ſaid to amount to above five hundred thouſand crowns.

Advices from Genoa, dated Sept. 14, run thus:---- All our letters from Madrid agree in ſaying, that the King of Spain had ſent orders to the ſeveral ports throughout his dominions, to arm all the ſhips and frigates lying there, and keep them in readineſs to put to ſea on the firſt ſignal. Theſe letters, however, are very ſilent in regard to the object that occaſions theſe extraordinary preparations, which puzzles our politicians extremely; ſome of whom, however, are of opinion, that all this is in conſequence of ſome new engagements, contracted between the courts of Madrid and Verſailles.

We are informed, that ſeveral eminent merchants of this city have given orders to their brokers to purchaſe a large number of ſhips, ſuch as may be converted into privateers, with the utmoſt ſpeed, to be in readineſs to act againſt the Spaniards, ſo ſoon as war ſhall be declared againſt that nation.

NEW-YORK, December 7.

The Fleet which lately ſailed hence to the Southward, was ſpoke with a few Days ago, all well.

Private Letters from London aſſure us, That the Occaſion of a late able and Patriot Miniſter's Reſignation, was owing to the Oppoſition that was made to the Advice he gave in Anſwer to a Meſſage that was looked upon as an Inſult from the Court of Madrid.---His Advice was, "The Sending of a Fleet of Ships to their principal Port of Cadiz, and there to come fairly to an Eclairciſſement [Explanation] on the Matter, by burning, ſinking and deſtroying, if they avowed the Engagements they had entered into with the Court of France againſt the Engliſh, and to which they ſigned in Auguſt laſt;" the Purport of which is, to furniſh the French with Ships of War and Money.

Extract of a Letter from London, dated October 10.

"Mr. Pitt reſigned his Seals Monday laſt; the King ſent him Word on Tueſday, that he intended to give a Peerage to Lady Heſter, and a Penſion of 5000 £ for three Lives. Wedneſday he anſwered Lord Bute, accepting of the ſame. Thurſday it was made public. Friday and To-day it has been the Talk of the Town.

"Ten Regiments raiſed; ſeveral Ships more put in Commiſſion; have no Hopes of a ſpeedy Concluſion of this War; however ſuſpect that it is not ſo remote as ſome People imagine."

A Gentleman in Briſtol writes his Friend in New-York thus:

"As ſuch a ſtrong Appearance of a Spaniſh War prevails, ſuppoſe by the time the Packet ſails, Accounts will be ſent of a Fleet ſailing for Cadiz, to demand a direct Anſwer to ſuch Queſtions as may reſult from the late Treaty which the Spaniards have ſigned with the French; a Copy of which Treaty Mr. Pitt read to a late Council (which was called on the Occaſion) adding, as his Opinion, that it would be beſt to declare War with Spain immediately; which was oppoſed by all preſent (except Earl Temple) in ſuch a Manner, that Mr. Pitt reſigned his Seals; however, it is expected he will be prevailed on to act again, and I wiſh he may, as the War is like to continue ſome Time, eſpecially as the Spaniards have taken a Part in it."

PHILADELPHIA, December 10.

Extract of a Letter from London, October 6, 1761.

"Mr. Pitt reſigned the Seals Yeſterday, for what Reaſon is not yet certainly known; but it is extremely likely he was for protracting the War, rather than yielding in the leaſt to the French, and for bringing the Spaniards to an immediate Explanation, who, it is ſaid, by a late Treaty, have agreed to aſſiſt the French with a large Sum of Money; in regard to all which, he has the Voice of the People clearly on his Side.----

LOTTERY TICKETS for the Paving Philadelphia Streets, Light-Houſe, Oxford Church, German

The Coronation was a splendid Shew indeed! I was in Weſtminſter Hall in the Evening, and ſurely nothing earthly could exceed it. The Quantity of Jewels, and fine Clothes, were immenſe, which made a brilliant Appearance, as the Hall was lighted up with near 4000 Wax Candles.---The King behaved like an Angel. Nothing can exceed the Benignity of His Countenance and Manner.----At his Coronation, he ſeemed to feel the Importance of the Oath he was taking, and conducted himſelf, throughout the whole Ceremony, in ſuch a Way as muſt ſecure him the Eſteem, Veneration and Affection, of all who ſaw him. The Queen's Behaviour was alſo, in every Inſtance, unexceptionable. She is, in my Opinion, vaſtly agreeable, full of Good-nature and Affability, and ſeems to have an humble, and very becoming and grateful Senſe of the high Station to which Providence has raiſed her.---In ſhort, all would be well, provided our Statesmen would but agree, till we have happily and honourably concluded the War; when this Nation will have arrived at a Degree of Felicity, Reputation, Trade and Opulence, hitherto unequalled in our own Hiſtory, or in that of any other People."

A Letter from Antigua, dated November 5, mentions Captain M'Pherſon, in the Britannia Privateer of this Port, having juſt carried in there two ten Gun French Privateer Sloops, called the Soleil and Mars, with above 50 Slaves on board; and that they will be worth at leaſt Four Thouſand Pounds.---He took them about 60 Leagues to Windward of that Iſland.

Captain Lyon, who arrived here on Saturday laſt from Antigua, left that Iſland in Company with Captain M'Pherſon, and kept with him about three Days; but being chaced by a Ship ſoon after he left the Britannia, he altered his Courſe, ſo that he fell in with her again, when ſhe was in full Chace of, and almoſt up with, another Sloop, thought to be a third French Privateer, which, it was believed, muſt ſoon be taken.---It is ſaid there are not leſs than 70 Privateers at Sea from Martinico.

Before Captain Lyon ſailed, Sir James Douglas, with His Majeſty's Ships, having the Forces on board from the ſeveral Iſlands, had gone to Barbados, in order to join the Fleet from New-York.

The Snow Polly, Captain Wallis, from Jamaica for this Port, is loſt on the North-Carolina Coaſt; her Sails and Rigging ſaved.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

PETERSBURGH, Auguſt 25.

GENERAL Tottleben was brought hither the beginning of laſt week, and is now a priſoner in the citadel.

Genoa, Sept. 5. Letters from Baſtia of the 22d ſay, that the malecontents continued in the province of Capi Corſo, and were uſing their utmoſt endeavours to reduce that province to their obedience, and had got ſome cannon of 18 and 12 pounders to beſiege the fort called Macinaio; that they had taken the Fort Rogliani; and De Paoli himſelf was near at hand to forward the ſiege of Macinaio. The new Commiſſary at Baſtia had publiſhed a confirmation of the Republick's edict of the 9th of May, inviting the malecontents to return to their obedience, promiſing the moſt favourable terms to reſtore tranquility to the iſland; but the malecontents did not ſhew the leaſt inclination to accept the Republick's offers.

Prague, Sept. 12. We have been much ſurprized to hear that the Ruſſian army had ſeparated from her Majeſty's on the 9th. It is certain that it was impoſſible to attack, much more to force the King of Pruſſia's entrenchments. He had in front, and in his flanks, batteries, each conſiſting of 30 or 40 pieces of heavy cannon, and his camp was ſurrounded with ditches and paliſades, like a fortreſs. Mean while we expect that the future operations of our armies will be carried on with uncommon vigour, as the ſeaſon is far advanced, and it would be moſt inglorious, after the vaſt and expenſive preparations for this campaign, to put an end to it, without doing any thing worth tranſmitting to poſterity.

Vienna, Sept. 12. The King of Pruſſia, availing himſelf of the nature of the ground, hath not only fortified his camp in an extraordinary manner, but hath marked out behind him another camp, equally ſtrong with that which he occupies, into which he can retire, in caſe of need, without any riſk. In theſe circumſtances, as it was unneceſſary for ſtraitening the enemy, that the armies ſhould remain together, eſpecially in a hilly country, deſtitute of proviſions, the Generals reſolved that Marſhal Butterlin, leaving with General Laudohn a conſiderable corps under General Czernicheff, ſhould march with the reſt to the Lower Oder, to continue the operations in that quarter. M. Butterlin decamped accordingly on the 9th.

Leyden, Sept. 23. Advices from Germany inform us, that the grand change in the poſition of the armies in Sileſia, after ſo much time ſpent, and efforts made, to gain thoſe poſitions, ſets every one to find out the true motives thereof, and to penetrate the deſign of the new diſpoſitions of the armies.

It is ſaid the Generals of the two armies could not agree on the queſtion, Whether the Pruſſian camp ſhould be attacked, or not; and who ſhould begin it. Their diſſention on this head, with the ſcarcity of water and forage, obliged them to change their meaſures; which they did the rather, as the Coſſacks, for want of ſubſiſtance, ſpared not the magazines of the Auſtrians, ſacked the villages, and mal-treated the inhabitants of Sileſia, whom the Auſtrians, willing to conſider the country as belonging to their ſovereign, were deſirous to ſpare. It was therefore reſolved, that the Ruſſians ſhould act on the Lower Oder, where the Coſſacks and Calmucks may follow the bent of their genius.

Lubeck, Sept. 17. At preſent there ſeems to be ſcarce any probability of an exchange of the dutchy of Holſtein for the countries of Oldenbourg and Delmenhorſt; and as the Grand Prince of Ruſſia, to whom that dutchy belongs, ſeems apprehenſive that the King of Denmark, who has a good part of his troops in that country, will attempt to ſeize it by force, it is ſaid he hath already ſounded the Court of Sweden, to know what part they would take, if his Daniſh Majeſty ſhould proceed to that extremity. On the other hand, the Court of Copenhagen ſeems to have conceived ſome umbrage at the proximity of the Ruſſian troops and fleet. Time will ſhew the views of both parties.

Gottingen, Sept. 17. The French are preparing to bombard the caſtle of Scharztels, which being the key of the Hartz mountains, will enable them to raiſe contributions there with leſs danger.

Hildeſheim, Sept. 18. A large body of French ſeem as if they would march to Wolfenbuttel.

Hanover, Sept. 25. It is juſt now reported that the enemy are beſieging Wolfenbuttel. This electorate groans under the weight of the contributions exacted by the enemy.

Hamburgh, Sept. 22. Advices from Dantzick import, that the differences between the regency of that city and the court of Warſaw, concerning the commiſſion which Count Podoſky, Grand Referendary of the Crown, has been lately charged to execute there, daily grow wider, and that there is reaſon to fear they will be attended with bad conſequences.

Hamburgh, Sept. 24. We have received advice, that the 9th inſtant, in the night, a fire broke out at Helſingfors, a maritime town in Finland, and ſpread ſo rapidly, that about two thirds of the houſes have been reduced to aſhes.

Hague, October 1. The report ſpread on Tueſday, that a Body of French had advanced to Wolfenbuttel, is confirmed. We have ſince learnt that they bombarded the place with great vigour for ſeveral hours ſucceſſively; that it was ſet on fire in three different places; but through the vigilance of the Governor the flames were ſoon extinguiſhed, only two or three houſes being burnt down. Theſe advices add, that the officer who commanded the French, getting notice that a large body of the Allies was advancing to fight him, gave over his enterpriſe, and fell back with all poſſible ſpeed to the main body of Marſhal Broglio's army. We hourly expect the news of a battle between this army and that of Prince Ferdinand.

Altena, Sept. 29. They write from Wolfenbuttel, that a body of between 7 and 8000 French, under General Cloſen, unexpectedly arrived before that city, on the 24th in the morning, with a numerous artillery. General Cloſen, having in vain ſummoned the garriſon, which conſiſted of 2000 men, to ſurrender, cannonaded and bombarded the town with great briſkneſs for four hours. General Stammer, governor of the place, made a good defence; upon which General Cloſen thought proper to retreat the ſame day at three in the afternoon, by way of Hornebourg. Several dwelling-houſes, and the great Church, were damaged by the bombs, but no lives were loſt. The Duke and his family are gone to Zelic.

Since Prince Ferdinand entered Heſſe, Soubiſe's army hath advanced again, and is bombarding Ham with ſo much fury, that it is thought the place muſt ſoon ſurrender.

The letters from Brandenburgh confirm the retreat of the Ruſſian army into Poland. Colberg continues to make a brave defence.

Francfort, Sept. 24. A report is ſpread, that Prince Ferdinand, with the main body of his army, is before Caſſel; and what ſeems to confirm it is, that the two laſt poſts from that town are not come in. Detachments of the Allied army have, moreover, appeared between this place and Marbourg, and carried off abundance of cattle; which hath obliged ſome convoys with meal and forage, which had ſet out for Marſhal Broglio's, to return to this city. It is alſo reported, that a conſiderable body of French, under General Cloſen, hath been attacked by the Allies in the neighbourhood of Fritzlar, and ſuffered much. All theſe different advices occaſion no little conſternation in this city.

Ziegenhayn, in Heſſe, Sept. 26. Marſhal Broglio hath ſent two large detachments to this neighbourhood, and that of Hombourg, to preſerve his communication with Francfort and the Main.

Duſſeldorp, Sept. 28. On the 14th the Prince de Soubiſe ſent from his head quarters at Coesfeldt fourteen pieces of cannon, to batter the caſtle of Meppen, in which the Allies have left a garriſon of 400 men, with much artillery and warlike ſtores.

Bruſſels, Sept. 28. Several French regiments quartered in Flanders, have received orders to march to Germany, where it hath been determined to keep the field as long as poſſible.

There is a ſtrong report here of an offenſive and defenſive treaty being concluded between France and a certain Power, which hath not yet taken part in the preſent war.

Ratiſbon, Sept. 21. In the night of the 18th inſtant, four imperial couriers from Vienna paſſed through here all together. We could not learn a tittle of their diſpatches; but we imagine that there muſt be ſomething of great importance in agitation. A confirmation, or rather a revival, of the report of an alliance between the King of Pruſſia and the Ottoman Court, and the divers advices we have received of the retreat or ſeparation of the Ruſſian army from that of General Laudohn, furniſh ample matters of ſpeculation.

Peterſburgh, Sept. 8. The Empreſs being quite recovered from her late indiſpoſition, the two Imperial ambaſſadors, and the Spaniſh miniſter, had their audience of her Majeſty on Thurſday laſt.

Pomerania, Sept. 15. It was on the 11th inſtant in the evening, that General Werner iſſued from the camp near Colberg, with 1800 dragoons and huſſars, and 300 foot ſoldiers, two pieces of cannon, and an obuſier, taking the route of Treptow, where he arrived at 6 o'clock next morning, with the infantry, and 200 dragoons and huſſars, the reſt of the corps having lodged that night in the adjacent villages. General Romanzoff, who had intelligence of this march, followed with all his cavalry, and three battalions, making together about 6000 men, with ſo much celerity, that he was deſcried from Treptow at 4 in the afternoon. The enemy paſſed the Rege above that town, and made his infantry advance. General Werner, that he might not be ſurrounded, and have his communication cut off, retired towards the high road of Klettkow, hoping that on the firing of a cannon, as a ſignal, his whole corps would re-unite at Treptow, in order to attack the enemy in concert, or march elſewhere. M. Werner being attacked by all the enemy's cavalry, on the way to Klettkow, formed his infantry in a hollow ſquare, continued his retreat under a conſtant fire of muſquetry, and ſtood firm againſt the repeated ſhocks of the horſe. In this manner the retreat half way to Kleptow, was performed in good order, without our cavalry arriving, tho' all the Aids de camp had been ſent to accelerate their march. General Werner fearing the enemy might get between him and Klettkow, got upon a hill, eſcorted by ſome huſſars, in order to reconnoitre the enemy, and make ulterior diſpoſitions. Unfortunately he was diſcovered there, purſued full gallop, and made priſoner, after falling with his horſe, which was wounded. Immediately after this accident, our dragoons came up from Klettkow, attacked the enemy, and were repulſed by ſuperior numbers. At the ſame time ſome of the enemy's troops fell upon our infantry, broke and routed them, and took part of them. At this critical moment the brave Major Pannwitz, of Werner's regiment, arrived with 500 huſſars, and ſeeing what had paſſed, he ruſhed upon the Ruſſian cavalry, and overthrew them with the aid of two ſquadrons of Plettenberg, who ſuſtained him. The regiment of Archangel, dragoons, was moſtly cut in pieces, and its commandant, the Count de Wirgenſtein, was made priſoner, with 200 men.

We alſo took 180 horſes; the reſt of that regiment were diſperſed or driven into moraſſes. Night alone prevented our improving this advantage, and delivering all our priſoners. However, we recovered our loſt booty, and our troops marched the ſame evening to Cuſtrinberg, without being moleſted by the enemy. Our loſs is very moderate, ſetting aſide the perſon of our General. Our dragoons loſt 3 officers, and 50 men; our huſſars had 14 men killed. Many of our foot ſoldiers have been retaken. The Colonel we have made priſoner owns that the loſs of the enemy, in killed, wounded, and priſoners, amounts to about 500 men.

Vienna, Sept. 19. The Miniſters from Madrid, Naples, and Turin, have frequent conferences with the Count de Caunitz, on the affairs of Italy; and from what we can learn, the claims in that country muſt at laſt be ſettled by the longeſt ſword.

Paris, Sept. 25. The court ſeems highly ſatisfied with the incurſions which Marſhal Broglio hath made in the countries of Hanover and Brunſwick. It is aſſured that the Marſhal hath acquainted the King with an important blow which he purpoſes to ſtrike before his army goes into winter quarters; that the Miniſtry have approved of this plan, and that he is preparing for its execution.

The negotiations with England being broke off, orders have been ſent to all the commanding officers on the ſea-coaſt, to keep their troops continually alert, for fear of a ſurpriſe.

Franckfort, Sept. 25. It is confidently ſaid that Marſhal Broglio intends to make another incurſion into the countries of Hanover and Brunſwick, to bring away all that can be found; and that, foreſeeing that his army cannot ſubſiſt in thoſe exhauſted countries, he will put his troops into the ſame cantonments which they occupied laſt year.

From the Weſer, Sept. 23. Yeſterday, in the afternoon, 400 volunteers attacked the Caſcade of Caſſel, in which were 105 of the Allies, and carried it. The French are forming immenſe magazines at Gottingen.

Hamelen, Sept. 25. An expreſs from Prince Ferdinand brings advice, that his head quarters were ſtill at Wilhemſthall, in the neighbourhood of Caſſel, and that M. Broglio was at Holſtmunden, where he was aſſembling the greateſt part of his army, and made a ſhew as if he would paſs the Weſer there; but Gen. Sporcken continued with his corps near Hoxter, and was aſſiduouſly watching the motions of the enemy, and kept themſelves ready to march, to join the main body of the army, if neceſſary.

Soubiſe's Army, Sept. 28. A detachment of volunteers have burnt at Oſnabrug a magazine of the Allies, which conſiſted of upwards of 600,000 rations. The inhabitants of the country of Lingen highly extol the good behaviour of our troops in that country.

Hague, Oct. 6. Notwithſtanding the poſitive orders iſſued by the Britiſh Court, on the breaking off of the negotiation with M. Buſſy, for a vigorous proſecution of the war, many people are of opinion that the negotiation will be renewed before Chriſtmas.

Ratiſbon, Oct. 2. Laſt campaign Berlin underwent a copious bleeding from the Ruſſians, which was ſenſibly felt by the King of Pruſſia. It was thought that they had a deſign to repeat the operation this year; the King was apprehenſive of it. However, it ſhould ſeem that he is delivered from theſe fears; and the Ruſſians will abſolutely not act offenſively this campaign. After they joined Gen. Laudohn, they ſubſiſted on the Auſtrian magazines, and were ſupplied with every thing they could deſire; but nothing could prevail on M. Butterlin to act; and the forage being eat up, they were obliged to ſeparate. The ſubjects of ſeveral dominions of the King of Pruſſia and his Allies will ſtill ſuffer great loſſes; but notwithſtanding all theſe loſſes, that Prince ſtill ſupports his ſyſtem, to the ſurpriſe of every body.

LONDON.

Sept. 26. The laſt letters from Paris intimate that a rumour prevailed there, that ſome private negotiations between the Kings of Pruſſia and Poland, were ſet on foot by means of the Court of London, which endeavours to ſtrengthen daily the party which his Pruſſian Majeſty hath in Poland. But the conditions of this treaty are not mentioned, tho' it is confidently ſaid that it is in great forwardneſs.

The States-General have reſolved to raiſe 2,260,000 florins by a lottery, which will begin drawing the 4th of January.

Sept. 29. We hear that the command of the expedition fleet will be given to Sir Edward Hawke; and that General Kingſley will command the land forces.

Yeſterday ſeveral officers, and ſome gentlemen volunteers, going on the grand expedition, ſet out for Portſmouth.

Four bombs are to ſail with the expedition fleet.

Letters from Leghorn, dated the 2d inſt. bring advice that the Empreſs Queen has ordered the fortifications of all the ſtrong towns in the Milaneze to be repaired: They alſo take notice, that the King of Sardinia's regiments are all compleated, and in readineſs to take the field at a few days warning. They likewiſe ſay, that the Auſtrian forces in Lombardy are complete; which may be true, but they are not numerous enough to defend the country, if attacked.

The people of Briſtol, Liverpool, and other ſea ports in in the Weſt of England, are in high ſpirits, on the rumour of a rupture with Spain.

The Dutch merchants of Amſterdam are moſt of them inclined to think that, notwithſtanding all the appearance to the contrary, a peace will be concluded this winter. They ground this ſentiment upon their having had no applications made as uſual in the month of Auguſt for remittances to the North. They were for ſome time in doubt whether a new channel might not be opened without their aſſiſtance, either at Hamburgh or Dantzick, but they now ſeem to be clear with reſpect to both.

The narratives, memorials, and replies of the two marſhals Broglio and Soubiſe, have been examined by the French Court, but the deciſion is reſerved to the cloſe of the campaign. Marſhal Broglio alledges, that his misfortune was owing to the Prince de Soubiſe's delay, who did not begin the attack till it was too late for him to continue it; the Prince de Soubiſe, on the other hand, ſuggeſts, that Broglio began this attack earlier than the time that had been fixed, in hopes of forcing the Allies without Soubiſe's aſſiſtance; and when he found that point loſt, obliged Soubiſe to retreat, that he might not have the honour of recovering it.

Extract of a letter from Paris, Sept. 18.

" To judge from the preſent ſtate of things, we are on the point of ſeeing the flames of war rage with fury in all the quarters of the globe. It is certain, that however hard the propoſals of England might be, our court would have conſented to them, its finances being exhauſted, and its marine annihiliated, had it not been ſure of being ſupported by Spain. There are projects on the carpet, which time only will reveal; the conqueſt of Hanover, the only reſource left us, will avail us nothing, becauſe the country is ſo much exhauſted, that our troops could not winter there, and we ſhould be obliged to evacuate it for want of ſubſiſtance.

" Several couriers have been received from the Preſident Ogier, our ambaſſador at Copenhagen, who writes, that the jarrings between Denmark and Ruſſia, on account of Holſtein, increaſe daily; and that there is reaſon to expect ſoon an open rupture between them."

Oct. 1. It is reported that an expreſs has been diſpatched to the Earl of Briſtol, our Miniſter at Madrid, to demand of the Spaniſh court, a copy of a treaty, ſigned the 25th of Auguſt, between the Spaniſh and French courts, and on refuſal thereof, to leave that court.

The rumour that prevails abroad, and indeed at home, of a Spaniſh war, is to the judicious part of mankind very ſurpriſing. We have had no difference ſince the laſt peace with that crown, have ſhewn on all occaſions a ſingular regard for her flag, and have beheld her proſperity with an eye of complacence. On the other hand, it is not eaſy to diſcern what intereſt this nation can have in quarrelling with us; we form no claims upon them, we have traverſed none of their ſchemes, we have entered into no negociations that can be prejudicial to them, and therefore it is very difficult to comprehend why a people ſo juſtly eſteemed for their prudence and policy, ſhould grow weary of a peace which has had ſo favourable an influence upon all their affairs, or be diſpoſed wantonly to enter into a war with thoſe who are in ſo good a condition as we are to defend ourſelves.

It is ſaid the expedition fleet will conſiſt of twenty men of war, four bombs, four fireſhips, beſides frigates and ſome armed ſhips, with upwards of one hundred ſail of tranſports.

Count Stahremberg, the Auſtrian Miniſter at Paris, hath acquainted the Miniſtry, that the Empreſs Queen was taking the neceſſary meaſures for a vigorous campaign next ſeaſon, in caſe the King of Pruſſia could not be brought to reaſon this year; and that ſhe hoped his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, on his part, would act with vigour and effect.

The laſt letters from Paris informs us, that two ſucceſſive couriers had been diſpatched to Vienna, with an account of the rupture of the negotiation with England, which it was expected would give the greateſt pleaſure, as the Empreſs hath been long apprehenſive of a ſeparate peace between the two courts.

Theſe letters add, that the French court hath a great diſtruſt of the King of Sardinia, and that a plan is laid by him and England, which hath for its object the affairs of Italy, where the theatre of the war will probably be transferred next year, as his Sardinian Majeſty is deſirous to avail himſelf of the preſent broils, to aſſert his claims in that country.

October 3. It is believed by many, that the French Court will be able to extract ſome way or other from the Jeſuits a ſum ſufficient to defray, at leaſt in part, the expences of another campaign; but if we conſider this impartially, it will not appear very probable; for this muſt ariſe either from the confiſcation of their effects, or be offered in the way of compoſition. As to the firſt, their effects and eſtates, no doubt, are very large; but it is not eaſy to conceive how they ſhould be ſo ſpeedily turned into money, as in any degree to anſwer ſuch a purpoſe. As to the ſecond, the licenſe they have obtained to borrow in foreign countries a very trifling ſum, in compariſon of what is ſuppoſed they muſt furniſh to make their peace, ſeems to be a proof that they are not in a condition to raiſe immenſe ſums, eſpecially in the ſtate their credit muſt be in at preſent.

Several fire ſhips are fitting out in the river, and ordered to be completed as ſoon as poſſible.

The convoy for the Weſt-Indies is put off from the 20th to the 24th inſtant.

Commerce is at ſuch a height at this time, that at the Cuſtom-Houſe, the Bank, and other Publick Offices, they are obliged to do buſineſs extra hours, and employ ſupernumeraries.

We hear that Gen. Lally, lately arrived from the Eaſt-Indies, has leave to depart this kingdom, and that the ſooner he goes, it will be the more agreeable.

The Hague Gazette, after mentioning that the negotiation between England and France was entirely broke off, gives the following account of the propoſed conditions of peace: 'The French conſented to yield all North America, except Louiſiana, the limits of which were to extend farther than in former treaties; but were to reſerve the iſland of Sable, and a place on the coaſt of Newfoundland, to dry the fiſh taken on the great bank; but the Britiſh Miniſtry would allow them, for that uſe, only the iſland of St. Peter, and even on that they ſhould erect no fortifications. By the preliminary regulations between the two courts, Guadaloupe was to be reſtored to the French, who were to yield to England the four Caribbee iſlands of Tobago, St. Vincent, St. Lucia and Dominico. Belleiſle was to be exchanged for Minorca; and the limits in Africa and Aſia to be amicably ſettled.' This Gazette adds, 'That what chiefly occaſioned the rupture of the negotiation was, That England demanded that the provinces of Gueldres and Cleves ſhould be evacuated, and reſtored to the King of Pruſſia; which, France alledged could not be done, as they had been conquered and occupied in the Empreſs Queen's name. As to Dunkirk, France readily conſented that all the new works towards the ſea ſhould be demoliſhed.'

Oct. 6. It is ſaid that the ſame ſum will be raiſed for carrying on the war next year, as was the laſt, viz. twelve millions; and that a ſcheme has been propoſed for raiſing it at 4 per cent. for 40 years, and a lottery ticket of 10l. The 4 per cent. for 40 years, they reckon will be worth 19l. and the lottery ticket 11l which will be 30l. to every ſubſcriber of 100l. which makes it equal to the preſent 3 per cents. if they ſhould fall to 70.

Extract of a letter from Portſmouth, Oct. 1.

" Thurſday the Dorſetſhire, Captain Campbell, ſailed from Spithead, it is ſaid, expreſs to Gibraltar.

" The Magnanime and Namure are under ſailing orders for the Bay. They are to be followed ſoon by the Royal George, Marlborough, and ſeveral others of the line. We hear, that we are ſpeedily to have a very formidable fleet in the Bay.

" At Spithead, Admiral Holbourne, with 14 ſhips of war."

Extract of a private letter from an officer in the Britiſh forces under Major John Carnack, in the Eaſt-Indies, dated Camp at Guya, Feb. 7. 1761.

" I can ſay very little to you about any thing in this country, but our exploits in war, having been conſtantly in the field for twelve months paſt, and I am now about 400 miles from Bengal.

On the 15th of January, we had a moſt deciſive battle with the Mogul's troops, conſiſting of about 80,000 men, and headed by a Prince of the Empire. Our army conſiſted of 500 Europeans, 2500 Seapoys, 12 pieces of cannon, and about 20,000 Black troops.

The engagement began about eleven o'clock, and before two we were maſters of the field of battle, all the French cannon, and ſome baggage. Our priſoners conſiſt of a great number of Black troops, about 70 or 80 French ſoldiers, and 7 French officers; among theſe laſt is M. Law, whom I had the honour to take and preſent to the Major. We continued purſuing them cloſe for ſeveral days after the battle, in which time we gained ſeveral advantages. Two days ago the Prince ſurrendered himſelf to the protection of the Major, and is now in our camp. He is treated with a great deal of reſpect by the Major, and is ſaid to have an allowance of 1000 roupees per day. He appears in all the pomp of an Eaſtern Monarch, though in his looks there is a great deal of dejected dignity. He is expected to ſet out for Patna in a few days."

Private letters from the army of the Allies acquaint us, that a letter from the Duke de Choiſeul to M. Broglio has been intercepted, in which the Miniſter treats the Marſhal very cavalierly. He puts him in mind of the plan concerted, and the promiſes made, before the entrance of the campaign; and obſerves, that little, if any part of that plan, has been carried into execution. He aſſerts, that the glory of the French arms was never ſo much tarniſhed as in this campaign, wherein their attempts have been continually fruſtrated by a very inferior army. He directs him to proſecute the war with more vigour, but enjoins him, at the ſame time, to ſend the court a diſtinct account of what he means to undertake, and what he apprehends will be the conſequences of the meaſures he purſues, that from thence they may be the better able to regulate their own.

Part of a Letter from Paris, Sept. 25.

" They write from Madrid, that the Spaniſh flota was ſafely arrived from Mexico, and that his Catholic Majeſty had agreed to the propoſals which have been made to it by our Court, in conſequence of the offenſive and defenſive treaty concluded on the 26th of laſt month."

A letter from the Hague, of the 2d inſt. ſays, " We juſt now hear that the rich flota which Spain hath long expected from Vera-Cruz is arrived at Cadiz. We are told that it hath on board immenſe ſums, the greateſt part of which will be employed in executing a project which will not a little ſurpriſe, as it may poſſibly give a new face to the affairs of Europe."

October 8. By letters from Hamburgh of the 28th ult. we are informed, that the inhabitants of Hanover had ſent their beſt effects to that place, and that five waggons with money were arrived there from Berlin, the inhabitants there being apprehenſive of a viſit from the Auſtrian or Ruſſian troops, before the cloſe of the campaign, as it was aſſured that a plan was formed by the Generals Laudohn and Butterlin to ſend a conſiderable body of troops into Brandenburgh.

Yeſterday the Right Hon. William Pitt, Eſq; late Secretary of State, was ſome hours with the King at St. James's.

They write from Vienna, that Gen. Laudohn having repeatedly repreſented, that it was impoſſible to attack the King of Pruſſia in his advantageous poſt, without running the greateſt riſks, orders have been ſent to him, to content himſelf with aſſiduouſly attending that Prince's motions, and to ſend a large detachment to the army of M. Daun, who would, on being joined by it, begin his operations in Saxony, whilſt a body of 25 or 30,000 Ruſſians would endeavour to lay ſiege to Breſlau.

Letters from Hamburgh aſſert very confidently, that as ſoon as the Czarina drops, which, from her bad ſtate of health, may be ſoon expected, the Grand Duke of Ruſſia, her preſumptive heir, is ſo much piqued againſt Denmark, for its behaviour in relation to Holſtein, he will declare war againſt his Daniſh Majeſty, who, on his part, is labouring to be prepared againſt all events; and hath given orders to the officers of his troops in Holſtein, not to abſent themſelves from their reſpective corps, on any account, nor to give any furlows to the private men.

They write from the Hague, that they are well informed that there is ſtill no good underſtanding between Broglio and Soubiſe, and that it is their diſſenſions which have rendered the operations of the two armies ſo ineffectual.

The Margrave of Heſſe-Caſſel, on the approach of the French to Brunſwick, retired to Lubeck.

The laſt letters received at the Hague from Paris were filled with the preparations for war.

In the laſt aſſembly of the States of Holland, which ſeparated on the 26th paſt, it was ordered, That in anſwer to the new memorial preſented by Yorke, relative to the affair in the river of Bengal, between the Engliſh and Dutch, a copy ſhould be delivered to him of the grievances which the Dutch have ſuffered by the Engliſh in the Eaſt-Indies: It was further ordered, that freſh remonſtrances ſhould be made to the court of London againſt the behaviour of their ſubjects in India to the Dutch; and that the Britiſh Ambaſſador ſhould be aſked to ſupport thoſe remonſtrances by his good offices.

October 10. We hear that two new regiments are to be raiſed in Ireland, and that commiſſions are ſent over for that purpoſe.

If the terms of peace had been agreed to, Mr. Buſſy was to be veſted with the character of Miniſter Plenipotentiary: And he was ſo confident of ſucceeding, that he had ordered a card from a copper-plate to be worked with this title, which was finiſhed and delivered.

It is ſaid that the French had agreed to every preliminary demanded for a peace, and a day was fixed; but the Spaniards, in the interim, offered, on certain terms, to lend them ſhips and money.

Extract of a Letter from Cologn, Oct. 2.

" Since the negotiation with England was ſuſpended, they are preparing for war in France with the greateſt earneſtneſs. New vigour hath already been given to the operations of the French armies in Germany; and meaſures are taking by the Admiralty Office to give life to the marine. Some uſeful and œconomical regulations have been made in the ſea ports; there are ſtill 36 ſhips of war left, which will be fitted for ſea. Some rich merchants have offered the King their purſes. But at Paris they talk of much higher projects or events. It is aſſured, that an offenſive and defenſive treaty is actually concluded between France and Spain; that the latter gives the former thirty millions, and 47 ſhips of war and frigates, in caſe England ſhould refuſe to liſten to juſt and equitable conditions of peace. It is aſſerted, that this treaty was ſigned on the feaſt of St. Lewis: It is further added, that the King of Spain is to marry Madame Victoire. This Princeſs is not young, it is true, being born in 1733; but as the Catholic King hath heirs already, her age will be no objection."

Letters from Paris, by the Way of Holland, ſay, That to judge from the preparations for war in all parts of France, one would imagine that the Miniſtry were meditating the conqueſt of whole kingdoms. Each Miniſter is doubly diligent in his proper department; and by means of the reſources which have been furniſhed by the credit of Meſſ. Paris de Montmartel and De la Borde, the people will not be oppreſſed with new taxes to defray the expences of the next campaign. Thoſe two gentlemen have promiſed to ſupply the King with fifteen millions of livres every month; and if this ſum ſhould not prove ſufficient, to increaſe it to twenty millions.

Theſe letters further inform us, that the French King, being willing to convince all Europe of his ſincere inclination to peace, and that it was not owing to him, that the negotiations of M. Buſſy and M. Stanley had not the deſired ſucceſs, hath ordered an account of the whole negotiation to be printed at the Louvre.

The negotiation was broke off (theſe letters ſay) becauſe England inſiſted, before ſhe would conſent to the ceſſion of any part of her conqueſts, that France ſhould renounce her alliance with the Court of Vienna. Theſe letters alſo mention the intended marriage of the King of Spain with a daughter of France.

NEW-YORK, December 10.

Capt. John Story, in the Sloop Orleans, is juſt arrived from Liſbon, in 9 Weeks: He reports that there are 11 Privateers off Liſbon, which take many Prizes, but moſt of them are re-taken by the Le Blonde, Capt. Kennedy.

Extract of a Letter from Capt. Baſſet, late Maſter of a Brig belonging to this Port, dated Cape-Francois, Oct. 31, 1761.

" My laſt to you by Mr. Newbold, Via Turk's Iſland, I hope you received, wherein I informed you of my being taken by the Defiance Man of War, on the 11th inſtant, on my Voyage from Jamaica for the Mount, after ſpeaking with three other of His Majeſty's Ships, who never offered to moleſt me.

" On the 17th he put his firſt Lieutenant on board with 50 Hands, and ſent us in Company with Samuel Little, in Queſt of a Number of Dutch armed Sloops, who Capt. Little, and another Privateer Brig, had the Day before been obliged to quit. The 12th, in paſſing through Tortuga Channel, we deſcried 13 of them coming out of Port Paix, and ſtood for us. At Half after Four in the Afternoon, they began to fire at us, and we ſeeing ſuch a Number, fired a Gun to Leeward, and hoiſted our Jack. Capt. Little did the ſame, who was about a League from us, but they ſtill continued firing; we immediately ſtruck, but they kept a conſtant Fire, which made us imagine they would give no Quarters. A little paſt Five we were boarded by four Dutch ſloops, and a little after by another that hoiſted French Colours, and a ſmall Schooner Privateer. The Uſage we met with, from a Parcel of Villains, void of Humanity, is impoſſible for Tongue to expreſs, or Pen to deſcribe: They juſt left me what I had on my Back, my ordinary Wear at Sea: They killed my Boatſwain Rois Barheit, a Quarter of an Hour after we ſtruck: Poor Little was cruelly butchered in cold Blood. The Dutch Commander's Name is Kunche, who was the chief Inſtigation of my being ſtripped."

Beſides the Cruelty mentioned in the above Letter, we are credibly informed, that three of the Men put on board Captain Baſſet's Brig by the Captain of the Man of War, were butchered in a cruel Manner, by the Dutch Sailors, ſeveral Hours after they had Poſſeſſion of the Veſſel.

MINUTES of CONFERENCES held at Easton, in August 1761, with the Chief Sachems and Warriors of the Onondagoes, Oneida's, Mohickons, Tuteloes, Cayuga's, Nanticokes, Delawares, and Conoys.

AT a Court held the Third Day of December, for the City of Philadelphia, before the Mayor, Recorder and Aldermen of the said City, came on the Trial of Ann Howell, a young Woman of a good Character, altogether unimpeached before that Time, who was prosecuted by a certain John Galbraith, for feloniously taking a Sum of Money, the Property of the said Galbraith; and, after a long and tedious Course of Evidence, the giving in of which lasted three Days, was acquitted by the Jury, who, in a very short Time after they retired from the Bar, unanimously agreed in finding her Not Guilty; and, as it was a Trial of great Expectation, a crouded Audience attended the whole Time, and upon the Jury's giving in their Verdict, shewed the greatest Signs of universal Satisfaction.

SAMUEL M'CALL,
HENRY LISLE.

WHEREAS it has been found by Experience, that the erecting of public Towns and Villages in our Mother Country hath greatly contributed to the Promotion of the Trade and Commerce and general Advantage thereof; AND WHEREAS there is a convenient Tract of Land, situate in the County of Philadelphia, on the River Schuylkill, known by the Name of POTTSGROVE, and belonging to the Subscriber, every Way adapted for the above Purpose: Through this Tract passes a very public Road, leading from Philadelphia through Oley to Maxatawny, the Town of Reading, Tulpehocken and Harris's Ferry, and also another Great Road, leading from the Town of Chester to a Ferry kept near the Center of the Town hereby intended to be erected, and from thence to the Forks of Delaware, Easton, Bethlehem, and the upper Parts of New-Jersey, which must necessarily render the Place a very great Thoroughfare, and very public.

Encouraged by these Conveniencies, and sundry Applications from Persons who are inclinable to take up Lots, I have resolved to erect a Town on the said Tract, and to lay out a Number of Lots, to be lett on Groundrent for ever, or to be bought off at twenty Years Purchase, whenever it shall suit the Purchaser's Convenience. The great Road, leading from Philadelphia to Reading, &c. is to be the main Street, and 100 Feet wide. The Cross-street, leading from the Ferry to Easton, &c. is to be 80 Feet. The Lots are each 60 Feet wide on the main Street, and extend in Depth 300 Feet, to a 60 Feet Street, and from the 60 Feet Street 300 Feet more, to a 40 Feet Street of the same Width; so that the Purchaser is to have a double Lot, and four Fronts. Each double Lot is to be lett on Groundrent for Four Spanish Milled Dollars, or Value thereof in Coin current, per Annum, for ever. And for the further Encouragement of the said Town, I do hereby oblige myself to give and make over unto any Twenty Families of the two first Denominations of Christians, that shall settle in the said Town, a convenient Lot for building a Place of Worship and School-house, and Half an Acre of Ground for a Burying Place.

For further Information of the Public, a Plan of the said Town is to be seen at the Subscriber's in Philadelphia, and at his Son Thomas Potts's, at Pottsgrove, on the Premises.

As soon as Thirty Lots shall be subscribed for, and not before, Tickets for the Lots shall be issued to the Purchasers.

For the Entertainment of the CURIOUS,

A COURSE of Electrical Experiments, with explanatory Lectures, is proposed to be exhibited at the College, in this City, on Monday and Tuesday, the 28th and 29th Instant, and again on the following Wednesday and Thursday, provided the Air be dry enough, or if otherwise, on the first dry Days after. By EBENEZER KINNERSLEY, M. A. Professor of English and Oratory in the College and Academy of Philadelphia.

In this Course of Experiments it will be shewn, that the Electrical Fire, collected by the Friction of Glass, and many other electrical Substances, is in all Respects the same with Lightning; and that our Bodies, at all times, contain enough of it to set a House on Fire. The principal Laws, by which it always acts, will be shewn and explained; and, among a great many other curious Particulars, a Method will be shewn, and an Instance given, of its Success in this City; whereby Houses, Ships, &c. may be preserved from being damaged by Lightning.

As the Knowledge of Nature tends to enlarge the human Mind, and give us more noble, more grand and exalted Ideas of the Author of Nature, it is presumed that this Course of Experiments will be, to some, an agreeable Entertainment. Those who desire to have their Dwellings effectually secured from the destructive Violence of one of the most awful Powers of Nature, may, by these Lectures and Experiments, learn more of the Nature and Properties of Lightning, than was ever known in the World till lately; and, at the same time, be fully convinced, that the Method proposed for their Security will, if put in Practice, be attended with Certain Success; and consequently that Mankind, instead of having any just Objection thereto, have great Reason to bless GOD for so useful a Discovery. For, "A prudent Man foreseeth the Evil, and "hideth himself; but the Simple pass on, and are punished," Proverbs xxii. 3.

The Lecture to begin each Day precisely at Eleven o' Clock in the Forenoon. Tickets to be had at Mr. Kinnersley's House in Market-street, Price Half a Dollar for each Lecture.

WHEREAS there were Two Hundred and Forty of the St. John's Church Lottery Tickets sent inclosed to Capt. John Singleton, from Colonel George Armstrong, Francis West, Esq; and Mr. M'Grew, of Cumberland County, which never came to Hand: Any Person that has found them, is hereby requested to forward them to him, or some other of the Managers living near the Church, with all possible Speed; as the fortunate Numbers cannot be published with Safety before they are brought in.

 The Managers of the Barren-hill Lutheran Church Lottery having had an Account of their Tickets, they are sorry to mention that upwards of one Half of the same remain unsold; they are therefore again obliged to postpone the Drawing of the said Lottery to the 2d of February next, on which Day they hope to draw if possible, as it would be running too great a Risk to attempt the Drawing sooner.

 On a Meeting of the Managers of the Lancaster School Lottery, they find they have on Hand 1500 Tickets, so that they cannot venture to draw the said Lottery, least the public and charitable Intention of setting up the same should be totally frustrated, and therefore they have thought proper to postpone the Drawing of the same until the 26th Day of March next.

 The Managers of the LOTTERY for Paving the Streets of Philadelphia, are under the disagreeable Necessity of informing the Public, that there are near Two Thousand of their Tickets unsold, and they cannot, without running too great a Risk, attempt to draw it before Monday, the Fourth of January next, at which Time they will certainly proceed to draw the same. In the mean while, the Tickets are to be disposed of by the respective Managers, at their Dwelling-houses, and by William Bradford and David Hall.

 The Managers of the Presbyterian Church Lottery, in Carlisle, having yet a Number of Tickets unsold, are obliged to defer the Drawing until Monday, the 4th of January next, by which Time they hope to be fully prepared. ¶

A LOTTERY,

For raising Five Hundred and Sixty-two Pounds Ten Shillings, for paying the Arrears due to a Company of Rangers, raised in Tulpehocken, in Berks County, for the Protection and Defence of the Inhabitants of that County in the late Indian War. The Occasion whereof is as follows.

IN the Year 1755 the Savages entered the Frontiers of that County, scalping, burning and destroying wherever they came, with the most cruel and merciless Rage, and driving whole Settlements before them, whereby that Part of the Province became as a Desart. To prevent the like Desolation coming into the interior Parts of the Province, 32 of the Inhabitants of Tulpehocken and Heidelberg associated and agreed to raise and pay 132 Soldiers to range on those Frontiers, for a certain Time. They were raised, and continued in that Service the Term agreed on, and the aforesaid Sum is still due to them: And altho' the People of that and the neighbouring Counties received equal Benefit and Protection from that Service with the Associators, yet no one has been kind enough to contribute to defray the Expence; the Obligation therefore of paying for this real publick Service rests wholly on those Associators, many of whom being in narrow contracted Circumstances, must be ruined if Suits at Law (with which they are threatened) should be brought against them. They therefore humbly beg Leave to apply to the Public, by Way of a small Lottery, for their Relief, and hope their Circumstances, on this interesting Occasion, will recommend the Sale of their Tickets to all who desire to live in Peace and Safety.

WILLIAM M'ILVAINE,

Of the City of Philadelphia, MERCHANT,

TWO certain Lots or Tracts of Land, known by the Names of No. 12 and No. 13, adjoining each other, lying and being on the South Branch of Potomack, in Hampshire County, Virginia, containing in the Whole 783 Acres, 200 Acres of which is an extraordinary rich Bottom, which may be easily cleared, and will make exceeding fine Meadow, such as never requires dunging, neither is there any Occasion for banking, as there is no Tide or Flood reaches it, and although almost all the low Grounds, belonging to the different Plantations around it, were overflowed with the great Fresh that happened in October 1753, yet that lies so high, that it suffered nothing from it; and the remaining Part of the Land is perhaps as rich Up-land as is to be found in most Parts of America, with the Advantage of a very large Range of many Thousands of Acres of Barrens on the Back of it, that never can be inhabited, which affords an Opportunity of raising a very large Stock of horned Cattle, Hogs and Horses, at an Expence next to nothing, it lies about 50 Miles to the Northward of Winchester, and about 15 Miles from Fort Cumberland, and the Land Carriage from it to Redstone Creek is not much, where all Sorts of Provision may be sent by Water to Pittsburgh, where it is believed a Garrison must be constantly kept, and consequently an advantageous Market for the Farmer and Grazier. There is about 40 Acres of the Land cleared and fenced, on which there is a good Log-house, and an Orchard of about 100 bearing Apple Trees. Any Person inclining to purchase, may know the Terms by applying to Alexander M'Donald, Merchant, in Winchester, or to William M'Ilvaine in Philadelphia.

N. B. The County Town is not yet fixed, but it is believed it will be fixed within about a Mile of the aforesaid Land, as it is the most convenient Part of the County for the Town. There is good and sufficient Patents from Lord Fairfax for the beforementioned Land, and all the Quit-rents paid up. ‡ Tbc. 6 Mo.

The POCKET ALMANACK,
For the YEAR 1762.

The following Articles, relating to the Coronation of their Majeſties, having not been yet ſo particularly inſerted in this Paper, we hope they will now be agreeable to our Readers.

WHITEHALL, September 22.

ABOUT eleven o'Clock the proceſſion was drawn out in Weſtminſter-hall, which was ſoon after followed by their Majeſties, who ſeated themſelves in the chairs of ſtate under their canopies.

Then the ſwords and ſpurs were preſented and laid upon the table, and the regalia brought up in proceſſion by the Dean and Prebendaries of Weſtminſter; which, being ſeverally preſented and laid upon the table, were afterwards delivered by the Lord Great Chamberlain to the Lords appointed to carry them, being ſummoned by Garter; as alſo the Biſhops appointed to ſupport their Majeſties, and who were to carry the bible, the chalice, and the patten.

The proceſſion then went on, and about half an hour after one their Majeſties entered the Abbey, and went to their ſeats on the eaſt ſide of the throne. The Archbiſhop of Canterbury made the recognition, and then their Majeſtjes made the firſt oblation, and took their ſeats on the ſouth ſide of the altar, Then the Litany began; during which, the regalia were ſeverally preſented at the altar, and the great officers retired to their ſeats.

The Litany being ended, and part of the Communion Service read by the Archbiſhop, Dr. Drummond, Biſhop of Saliſbury, preached the Sermon; which being ended, his Majeſty made the uſual declaration, and took and ſubſcribed the coronation oath.

After Veni Creator, his Majeſty removed to St. Edward's chair; and the unction was performed by the Archbiſhop, four Knights of the Garter holding a pall over his Majeſty during the anointing, viz. the Duke of Devonſhire, Earl of Northumberland, Earl of Hertford, and Earl Waldegrave. The ſpurs were then preſented, and his Majeſty girt with the ſword, which was afterwards offered and redeemed.

His Majeſty was then inveſted with the armill, the purple robe or imperial pall, and orb, and afterwards receiving the ring, returned the orb to the altar.

The Marquis of Rockingham, Deputy to the Duke of Norfolk, as Lord of the manor of Worſop, preſented a right hand glove to his Majeſty, who, putting it on, received from the Archbiſhop the ſcepter with the croſs, and afterward the ſcepter with the dove, into his left hand; and the Marquis did afterwards ſupport his Majeſty's right hand, as occaſion required.

The Archbiſhop then ſet the crown upon his Majeſty's head, about half an hour after three o'clock, amidſt the acclamations of an infinite number of ſpectators; upon which the Peers put on their coronets, the Dukes of Normandy and Aquitaine their hats; the Biſhops, Knights of the Bath, and Judges, their caps, and the Kings of Arms their crowns.

Then the Archbiſhop preſented the bible, and pronounced the benediction; and his Majeſty kiſſed the Biſhops kneeling before him.

While Te Deum was ſinging, his Majeſty was inthroned; whereupon the Biſhops performed their homage, and then the temporal Lords; firſt his Royal Highneſs the Duke of York, and his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, each for himſelf. Then the Duke of Devonſhire, Lord Chamberlain, pronounced the words of the homage for all the Dukes; the Marquis of Rockingham for the Marquiſſes; Earl Talbot, Lord High Steward, for the Earls; Viſcount Say and Sele, for the Viſcounts; and Lord Henley, Lord High Chancellor, for the Barons; every Peer likewiſe taking off his coronet, touched the King's crown, and kiſſed his left cheek.

During the homage, his Majeſty delivered the ſcepter, with the croſs, to the Marquis of Rockingham (officiating as Lord of the manor of Worſop) to hold.

In the mean time, medals of his Majeſty and the Queen were thrown about by the Treaſurer of the Houſhold.

The coronation of his Majeſty being finiſhed, the Queen removed from her ſeat, on the ſouth ſide the area, to a chair placed before the altar, and was anointed (four ladies holding a pall over her Majeſty) and afterwards inveſted with the ring, and crowned by the Archbiſhop: Upon which the Peereſſes put on their coronets. The Archbiſhop then delivered the ſcepter into her right hand, and the ivory rod into her left hand.

Their Majeſties then made their ſecond oblation, and received the communion; and the final prayers being read, they retired into St. Andrew's chapel, where they were inveſted with their royal robes and crowns of ſtate.

A proceſſion was then made back to Weſtminſter-hall.

Their Majeſties retired into the Court of Wards till dinner was ready; and then, ſitting in their chairs of ſtate, the firſt courſe was brought up with the uſual ceremony, his Royal Highneſs the Duke of York, and his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, ſitting at the end of the table, on his Majeſty's right hand; and her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Auguſta, at the other end of the table, on the Queen's left hand. Before the ſecond courſe, the Champion was brought up, between the High Conſtable and Earl Marſhal, followed by four Pages, and preceded by the Herald, who pronounced the challenge, the Champion's two Eſquires, with his lance and target, two Serjeants at Arms, and the Trumpets, the Knight Marſhal going before to clear the paſſage.

Immediately after the return of the champion, Garter King of Arms, attended by the reſt of the heralds, proclaimed his Majeſty's ſtyle in Latin, French, and Engliſh, three ſeveral times; firſt, upon the top of the ſteps, near the table; next, in the middle of the hall; and laſtly, at the bottom of the hall.

The ſecond courſe was then ſerved up, in the ſame order as the firſt.

Berlin, September 19. Mr. Lichnowſky, commandant of Glogau, frequently ſends out Parties, which greatly interrupt the communication between the Ruſſian army and Poland. One of theſe parties having marched to Bojonowa, carried off a Ruſſian Major, with 46 dragoons, and 73 horſes, after cutting 30 men in pieces: Another party has picked up 40 Ruſſians, and 60 horſes.

We are aſſured a treaty or convention is concluded between the King and the Duke of Mecklenburgh, by which the latter engages to be quite neuter in the preſent broils.

Leipſick, Sept. 19. Our garriſon having made divers ſallies on the army of the Empire, has taken a hundred and eleven Imperialiſts in one rencounter, and eighty-eight in another.

LONDON.

October 2. One of the ſmalleſt horſes ever ſeen is brought over in the Latham, Moffat, lately arrived from the Eaſt-Indies; he is only two feet ten inches high, and belongs to a gentleman who came paſſenger in the ſhip from Bengal.

October 6. Letters from the South of France, dated the 16th ult. adviſe, that an epidemical diſtemper had raged at Toulon for about two months, which had carried off great numbers of the inhabitants of that place, and that there were few houſes that had not three or four ſick in them.

The new Spaniſh Miniſter at the Court of Peterſburgh had his firſt audience of the Empreſs on the 17th of Auguſt; and one of the objects of his miſſion is ſaid to be, to engage the Czarina to procure for the houſe of Saxony an indemnification proportioned to all the damages it has ſuſtained by the preſent war.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, Sept. 21.

"The diſpatches brought by divers couriers from the Preſident Ogier, the King's Ambaſſador at the Court of Denmark, furniſh matter for very ſerious reflections. Clouds ſeem to be gathering in the north, and we are apprehenſive of ſeeing the ſchemes of our Court and its Allies entirely diſconcerted and fruſtrated."

October 8. We hear that advice is come from Caſſel, that the Allies had begun to fire red hot bullets, and the French garriſon had made ſeveral ſallies, and fought with great courage and reſolution; but being as vigorouſly oppoſed, they were drove back again with great ſlaughter, but not without ſome loſs on the ſide of the Allies; and that M. Broglio had made diſpoſitions, that portended a bloody battle between the armies very ſoon.

They write from Amſterdam, that the French quitted Embden on the 27th of laſt month, after committing there, and through the whole Principality of Eaſt-Friezland, the moſt ſhocking devaſtations, mal-treating perſons of all ages and ſexes; confining Proteſtant Clergymen upon bread and water, and making uſe of every method to extort money; ſo that it is ſaid they have carried off at leaſt 200,000 l. ſterling out of that country.

They write from Peterſburgh, that the Poles make bitter remonſtrances againſt the Ruſſian Generals; who, they ſay, have taken immenſe quantities of forage and proviſions, without making any payments. The Court has received certain advice, that the Turks are making great military preparations.

According to the laſt letters from the army of the Empire, of the 15th ult. it ſcarcely amounted then to 8000 men.

We are informed that Mr. Robert Waddington, who accompanied the Rev. Mr. Nevil Maſkelyne, F. R. S. to St. Helena, in the Prince Henry Indiaman, Capt. Hoggis, is returned in the Oxford Indiaman, Capt. Webber, and relates as follows: That they ſailed from the Road of St. Helen, near Portſmouth, the 17th of January, 1761, and arrived at St. Helena the 6th of April, with their inſtruments in good condition; they had an obſervatory, made upon a hill, about half a mile higher than the ſurface of the ſea, wherein they had their inſtruments for obſerving the Tranſit of Venus over the Sun; they made ſeveral obſervations of the Tranſiting of Venus over the Sun's diſk, but could not ſee the contacts, the day being very rainy and cloudy. Their obſervations, of ſundry kinds, will be laid before the Honourable Gentlemen of the Roy l Society at their meeting; alſo the reſults of their obſervations made on their voyage of finding the longitude of the ſhip at ſea, and, when made, the iſland; likewiſe of the obſervations made on his return in the Oxford; which longitude obſervations of the ecliptic diſk of the ſun and moon, or moon and ſtars, did not differ more than twenty miles with the longitude of Portland-Point, in the Britiſh Channel.

They write from Paris of the 25th ult. that M. de Belſunce (after having finiſhed his exploits in Germany by an excurſion wherein he collected 100,000 crowns in ready money, and took hoſtages for much greater ſums) was juſt arrived there, and it was certainly ſaid that he would be ſent to take the command in chief of the King's troops either at St. Domingo or Martinico, at his own option; and that the Chevalier de St. Croix, who defended Belleiſle, was to go and take the command in that of the two colonies which ſhould not be made choice of by M. de Belſunce.

A letter from Torgau, by the laſt mail, runs thus: "The ſeparation of the Auſtrian and Ruſſian armies has already enabled the King of Pruſſia to open his communications for the better ſubſiſtence of his troops; altho' it may, with great truth, be ſaid, that no inhabitants, during this war, have been more barbarouſly ravaged and plundered than the Sileſians have been for theſe two months paſt; ſo that proviſions and forage are become extremely ſcarce throughout all that part of the country. Such barbarous ſcenes of ſavage brutality were committed by the Ruſſians in their retreat to Parchwitz, as were quite ſhocking to humanity, and cannot be mentioned without the utmoſt horror; not content with debauching the innocent wives and daughters of the beſt inhabitants of the different villages they paſſed through, they even ſtript them of their very clothes, and afterwards turned many hundreds of them naked into the ſtreets; all the clothes, proviſions, and the beſt of their furniture, were carried away; and what they could not carry off, they either burnt or broke to pieces; to endeavour to prevent theſe outrages was certain death, as numbers too fatally experienced."

October 10. Yeſterday the Right Hon. Mr. Pitt was at Court, and went to Hayes's to dinner.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, October 2.

"The conſequences of the preſent war ſo far merited the attention of Spain, that we have all along flattered ourſelves that, for her own Intereſt, ſhe would at length embrace ours, and make a common cauſe with us againſt the Engliſh. This hope now ſeems to be very near reality; at leaſt we are fond of perſuading ourſelves that the report of a treaty lately concluded between our Court and that of Madrid, is not void of foundation; and though the public know not the nature nor conditions of this treaty, that it exiſts may be quite ſufficient for drawing a favourable omen in relation to the future treaty of peace. If, as ſome preſume, Spain will furniſh 40 ſhips of the line, and 20 frigates, to join all thoſe that we ſtill have at Breſt, Rochefort, Toulon, and other ports, they will certainly form a very formidable fleet, and dread and apprehenſion may ſucceed the contempt that has been expreſſed for our marine."

The letters from Hamburgh of the 29th ult. give an account of Gen. Platen's arrival with his corps before Colberg, which continued to make a brave defence.

The five thouſand waggons which Gen. Platen deſtroyed, were laden with proviſions enough to ſerve the whole Ruſſian army for three weeks at leaſt.

A cutter, belonging to the Leoſtoffe man of war, Capt. Stirling, has driven two French privateers aſhore near Dunkirk, one of which is deſtroyed, and the other left on the beach; but troops coming down, they drove the cutter off, before he could deſtroy the latter.

The laſt letters from Breſlau ſay, that all the open country, and moſt of the great towns, in Upper Sileſia, are utterly ruined; ſo that the great manufactures of linen cloth, wrought iron, and ſeveral ſorts of leather, are totally ſtopt; and that multitudes of the people muſt have been ſtarved, if His Pruſſian Majeſty had not directed them to be ſubſiſted from His Magazines.

On Tueſday laſt a petition, ſigned by the ſufferers by the late fire at Boſton, in New-England, was preſented to the King.

A young gentleman, who arrived in town on Friday from Augſbourg, and who paſſed, by virtue of proper authority, and a Paſſport, through the theatre of war upon the Lower Rhine, ſays, That when he came in ſight of Broglio's infantry, he was never more ſurprized in his life; inſtead of their appearing like a regular and well diſciplined ſoldiery, they were like a banditti, in rags and deſpondency; they were worn out by fatigue, and ſome were ſo puny, young and weak, they were ready to ſink under the weight of their arms; their dejected, meagre and ſickly countenances, ſhewed the great hardſhips they ſuffer by famine, and diſcover an unwillingneſs for the ſervice; in a word, the wretched appearance which this corps makes, is beyond conception. Admitting this deſcription to be true, which we are aſſured is ſo, there can be little doubt but that Prince Ferdinand is able, notwithſtanding his inferior numbers, to chaſtiſe the French Marſhal, and free the country of the cruel ravages of a licentious rabble, let looſe to plunder and deſtroy.

It has been computed, with tolerable certainty, that the demand for almoſt every ſpecies of goods manufactured in Great-Britain, and exported to our American Colonies, has been, to the amount of 250,000 l. ſterling, more this year than was ever known before; and as, by our late acquiſitions on that continent, various ſources of trade are opened, not only with reſpect to England, but alſo to the American iſlands and provinces themſelves, and the number of their inhabitants are continually encreaſing, it muſt afford matter of exceeding joy and conſolation to every true Briton to reflect, how greatly the nerves and ſinews of war are braced up and ſtrengthened, by the flouriſhing ſituation of trade and commerce in theſe happy kingdoms, while that of our enemies languiſhes in proportion.

A private letter from Paris, by the way of Holland, ſays, that M. de Buſſy was received on his arrival at Verſailles in a very extraordinary manner by the King, and had the honour of converſing with him for ſome Hours; and that directly afterwards freſh inſtructions were diſpatched to M. Broglio, and the Prince de Soubiſe.

A late reſignation has given occaſion for many conſiderable wagers among the ſporting gentry, that a reinſtation will ſoon take place.

It is confidently aſſerted, that M. Buſſy, in conjunction with a certain perſon, during his ſtay in England, acquired not leſs than 60,000 l. by ſtock jobbing.

It is likewiſe ſaid, that M. Buſſy has received from the King, his maſter, a very great preſent, for his faithful ſervices in England.

To the PRINTER of the LONDON CHRONICLE.

SIR,

MUSING in my ſtall the other day upon the inſtability of human affairs, ſaid I to myſelf, what is human grandeur? Men are but children of a larger growth; weep for a toy; that once poſſeſſed, another is our wiſh; to which another, and another ſtill ſucceeds, till cloyed with poſſeſſion, the laſt like the firſt is thrown away. I need not tell you I was led into that melancholy train of thinking, by an event which fills my heart with woe. I have indeed the melancholy comfort of having every honeſt citizen ſhare in the general loſs, and mingle his complaints with mine. Oh! Britain, exclaimed I, can it be ſo! Have then a few of thy unnatural ſons brought that about, which baffled all the ſtrength and cunning of thy declared enemies? Has the conducting thy affairs with a ſteadineſs unknown in former times, and with ſuch amazing ſucceſs, as no part of thy own annals can boaſt? And has faction, through one man's influence, ſhook hands with loyalty? Has trade flouriſhed through his means? Have the Wings of a towering enemy been clipped by his prudence, and thy fame been exalted throughout the nations of the earth by his wiſdom? Are theſe then the crimes this ſon of thine ſtands charged with? If they are crimes, let every man be guilty.

This rhapſody burſt unwilling from my ſoul; for in my humble ſtation, how can changes affect me? My awl, my laſt, my ſtall, are all ſecure, and muſt remain ſo, whilſt a ſpark of Britiſh fire warms a Britiſh heart. Happy Criſpin, thought I, thy abject ſtate ſecures thee from the envy of the great. There is no caballing about the honour of cobling for the pariſh of Cripplegate; thou haſt no competitor for fame and power; thou art ſecure from the wiles of a French agent, who cannot boaſt, that thou haſt pointed out the nakedneſs of thy country; haſt dropped hints, how and in what manner ſhe may be annoyed; thou haſt not made feaſts for the enemies of thy country, and taken them to thy boſom, who were endeavouring to pluck the laurels from her brow; thou haſt never endeavoured to clog the wheels of her government, by thwarting the wiſdom of her councils; thou haſt never inſtilled the notion of imaginary dangers into the breaſts of the great; nor haſt thou ever ridiculed a ſeries of ſurpriſing ſucceſſes, and treated them as the effects of chance.

Stedfaſt in thy loyalty to thy King, and love to thy Country, thou haſt ever rejoiced in the happineſs of both; no guilty coronet has ever ſtained thy brow; nor has envy of virtues in thy fellow ſubjects ever tainted thy mind. All this old Criſpin can ſay; Can a Duke do more? I am, Mr. Printer, in hopes of better times, Thine,

The Cobler of Cripplegate.

P. S. A wager of ſix to one was offered yeſterday at a public-houſe in my neighbourhood, that Will, the coachman, would be on the box again in leſs than ſix days.---- May the honeſt gambler win his bett, is the hearty prayer of every lover of Old England.

BOSTON, December 7.

On Saturday evening laſt a ſchooner, from North-Carolina, belonging to New-York, John Atkins Maſter, in coming into this Port, was drove, by the high Gales of Wind we then had, on a Place called Egg-Rock, near the Light-houſe. The Maſter kept on the Wreck, and the Men on the Rock, till the next Morning, when they were taken off by the Pilot Boat. The veſſel was ſtove to Pieces, and her Cargoe loſt.

Extract of a Letter from Capt. John Thurſton, to his Owners at Newport, Nov. 15, 1761.

"Ten Days after I ſailed from Newport, in Lat. 22, Long. 77, I met with the Snow Olive Branch, Capt. Fowler, bound from Cape-Fear to New-York, in Diſtreſs, having 7 Feet Water in her Hold, and both Pumps continually going. At Captain Fowler's Requeſt I lay to, and took him and his People on board, being 13 in Number. They had but juſt time to ſave a few Clothes, when the Snow went to the Bottom. The Captain and People were carried in a Pilot Boat to South-Carolina."

We hear that a Sloop, of about 80 or 90 Tons, is aſhore on Nantucket Bar, and bilged, but no Hands on board. By her Papers and Cargoe, it was judged ſhe was bound from North-Carolina to this Place, commanded by one Monro; and that the People of Nantucket were uſing their Endeavours to ſave Veſſel and Cargoe; but that it was feared the former, with great Part of the latter, would be loſt.

Friday laſt arrived here Capt. Topham, in 14 Days from South-Carolina; he informs, that 7 Days ago, about 35 Leagues to the Eaſtward of the Capes of Virginia, he ſaw a French Polacco lying to, and was near enough to heave a Biſket on board, but being dark, got off undiſcovered. It is ſuppoſed to be the ſame Captain Clarke, from Fyal, gave an Account of, mentioned in our laſt, under the Philadelphia Head.

On the 22d ult. died at Hinham, in the One Hundred and Firſt Year of her Age, Mrs. Sarah Pratt; ſhe enjoyed a good State of Health to her Death; and has left Children, Grand-children, and Great-grand-children, to the Fifth Generation, to the Number of 182.

NEW-YORK, December 14.

There were at the Havannah, about ſix Weeks ago, no leſs than twelve Spaniſh Men of War of the Line, a Ship of 60 Guns juſt launched, and another of the ſame Force on the Stocks.

Dec. 17. On Tueſday laſt arrived a Sloop, Capt. Geary, in 18 Days from Bermuda, by whom we hear that a dangerous Conſpiracy, among the Negroes, was lately diſcovered there, not two Days before it was to have been executed. The Particulars of this horrid Plot, ſo far as we have heard, are as follow, viz. That it had been in Agitation above 6 Months, a Number of very ſenſible Fellows, very much in Credit with all the white People that knew them, and capable of managing moſt Sorts of Buſineſs, having been concerned; by the Means of thoſe, the Plot was communicated, and became general among the Negroes over the whole Iſland. They collected, by little at a Time, a conſiderable Quantity of Powder, and found Means to get a Number of Muſkets, and other Fire Arms. They had appointed Captains, and other Officers, and allotted them their proper Stations. On Sunday a Captain, and a ſufficient Number of his Men, were to ſurround each of the Churches, and Meeting Houſes in the Iſland, in the Time of Divine Service, who were to ſhut the Doors, and murder the People; and then alſo murder all the remaining Men in the Iſland, except Three; one of whom was to be the Governor, the other two were Seamen, reſerved to carry them, after ſome Time, to ſuch a Place as they ſhould chooſe.

They had judiciouſly concerted every Part of this Plot; there was not the leaſt Suſpicion of it, when on the Friday Night before the fatal Sunday, a young Man, an Apprentice, going to his Mother's Houſe, left the Road, and croſſed the Fields, as being nearer; in his Way lay a thick unfrequented Wood, where hearing People talk, he approached ſo near as to overhear a great Part of their Deſign; and he preſently knew one of the principal Actors by his Voice.

He then withdrew undiſcovered, and the next Day informed a Magiſtrate. The Fellow that was known was immediately ſecured, having been a Kind of Intelligencer, and one of the moſt active among them. He turned King's Evidence, great Numbers were taken up, and more expected, ſeveral had been burnt, and the whole Iſland was under a general Conſternation.---It is ſaid the Negroes are thrice as many as the Whites.

For the Entertainment of the CURIOUS,

A COURSE of Electrical Experiments, with explanatory Lectures, is proposed to be exhibited at the College, in this City, on Monday and Tuesday, the 28th and 29th Instant, and again on the following Wednesday and Thursday, provided the Air be dry enough, or if otherwise, on the first dry Days after. By EBENEZER KINNERSLEY, M. A. Professor of English and Oratory in the College and Academy of Philadelphia.

In this Course of Experiments it will be shewn, that the Electrical Fire, collected by the Friction of Glass, and many other electrical Substances, is in all Respects the same with Lightning; and that our Bodies, at all times, contain enough of it to set a House on Fire. The principal Laws, by which it always acts, will be shewn and explained; and, among a great many other curious Particulars, a Method will be shewn, and an Instance given, of its Success in this City; whereby Houses, Ships, &c. may be preserved from being damaged by Lightning.

As the Knowledge of Nature tends to enlarge the human Mind, and give us more noble, more grand and exalted Ideas of the Author of Nature, it is presumed that this Course of Experiments will be, to some, an agreeable Entertainment. Those who desire to have their Dwellings effectually secured from the destructive Violence of one of the most awful Powers of Nature, may, by these Lectures and Experiments, learn more of the Nature and Properties of Lightning, than was ever known in the World till lately; and, at the same time, be fully convinced, that the Method proposed for their Security will, if put in Practice, be attended with Certain Success; and consequently that Mankind, instead of having any just Objection thereto, have great Reason to bless GOD for so useful a Discovery. For, "A prudent Man foreseeth the Evil, and "hideth himself; but the Simple pass on, and are punished," Proverbs xxii. 3.

The Lecture to begin each Day precisely at Eleven o' Clock in the Forenoon. Tickets to be had at Mr. Kinnersley's House in Market-street, Price Half a Dollar for each Lecture.

WHEREAS it has been found by Experience, that the erecting of public Towns and Villages in our Mother Country hath greatly contributed to the Promotion of the Trade and Commerce and general Advantage thereof; AND WHEREAS there is a convenient Tract of Land, situate in the County of Philadelphia, on the River Schuylkill, known by the Name of POTTSGROVE, and belonging to the Subscriber, every Way adapted for the above Purpose: Through this Tract passes a very public Road, leading from Philadelphia through Oley to Maxatawny, the Town of Reading, Tulpehocken and Harris's Ferry, and also another Great Road, leading from the Town of Chester to a Ferry kept near the Center of the Town hereby intended to be erected, and from thence to the Forks of Delaware, Easton, Bethlehem, and the upper Parts of New-Jersey, which must necessarily render the Place a very great Thoroughfare, and very public.

Encouraged by these Conveniencies, and sundry Applications from Persons who are inclinable to take up Lots, I have resolved to erect a Town on the said Tract, and to lay out a Number of Lots, to be lett on Groundrent for ever, or to be bought off at twenty Years Purchase, whenever it shall suit the Purchaser's Convenience. The great Road, leading from Philadelphia to Reading, &c. is to be the main Street, and 100 Feet wide. The Cross-street, leading from the Ferry to Easton, &c. is to be 80 Feet. The Lots are each 60 Feet wide on the main Street, and extend in Depth 300 Feet, to a 60 Feet Street, and from the 60 Feet Street 300 Feet more, to a 40 Feet Street of the same Width; so that the Purchaser is to have a double Lot, and four Fronts. Each double Lot is to be lett on Groundrent for Four Spanish Milled Dollars, or Value thereof in Coin current, per Annum, for ever. And for the further Encouragement of the said Town, I do hereby oblige myself to give and make over unto any Twenty Families of the two first Denominations of Christians, that shall settle in the said Town, a convenient Lot for building a Place of Worship and School-house, and Half an Acre of Ground for a Burying Place.

For further Information of the Public, a Plan of the said Town is to be seen at the Subscriber's in Philadelphia, and at his Son Thomas Potts's, at Pottsgrove, on the Premises.

As soon as Thirty Lots shall be subscribed for, and not before, Tickets for the Lots shall be issued to the Purchasers.

¶ JOHN POTTS.

FIFTEEN POUNDS Reward.

RUN away from the Baltimore Iron-works, in Maryland, the 4th of October 1760, an English Convict Servant Man, named Joseph Hollond, about 23 Years of Age, and is rather small than of the middle Size, has a smooth full Face, blue Eyes, and light coloured Hair, which was short when he went away; he has a remarkable Way of swinging his Arms as he walks, and has been used to wait in a House, and take Care of Horses. The above named Servant was advertised in the Pennsylvania and Maryland Gazettes soon after he ran away; however he got to Pittsburgh some time last Fall, and was there taken up as a Runaway, and examined by Colonel Bird; but upon his producing a Discharge, which he had stolen from one Joseph Stevens, at the Baltimore Iron-works aforesaid, and calling himself by that Name, he was set at Liberty, and there lived with, and attended a Bar for one Captain Paris; but he left Pittsburgh some time in the latter End of March, and was heard of coming this Way as far as Bedford, so that it is likely he has made into Pennsylvania or Virginia. It seems he has made his Hair much darker by using Bear's Oil, and passes now (I suppose) by that Discharge I mentioned above. Whoever takes up and secures the said Servant, so that he may be had again, shall have Fifteen Pounds Reward, paid by

By the Ship Jupiter, Capt. Hamilton, who arrived at New-York, in 7 Weeks from Londonderry, we have the following Advices, viz.

NEW MARCHE OF BRANDENBURGH, Oct. 3.

THE main body of the Ruſſian army is at preſent on our frontiers, and Marſhal Butterlin, who has fixed his head quarters at Drieſen, has publiſhed a reſcript, in which he takes the title of governor of our province. The Coſſacks, Calmucks, and other irregulars, are already making incurſions into the heart of the country; and our condition will be very deplorable, if the King doth not come ſpeedily to our relief.

Francfort, on the Oder, Oct. 4. We imagined that the Ruſſian army, after paſſing the Oder, would march to the Viſtula, and occupy the ſame winter-quarters as laſt year; but we were miſtaken. We have undoubted intelligence, that Marſhal Butterlin is marched to the New Marche of Brandenburgh, and that his light troops have already entered that province, and are making great havock. Mean while, we hope that our glorious monarch, notwithſtanding the ſuperiority of his enemies, will ſet bounds to their enterpriſes. His Majeſty has already ordered the body of forces under M. de Podewills, which formed a flying camp at Furſtenwall, to march towards the Oder, and a conſiderable reinforcement is ſoon to follow

Our laſt advices from Sileſia are, that the King's army had taken a new poſition, between Muſterberg and Neiſs, and by that means hath very much diſconcerted the deſigns of the enemy, who were obliged to quit their advantageous camp, to go to take poſt between Camentz and Patſchkau.

Hague, Oct. 13. This morning Baron Reiſchach, the Auſtrian Miniſter, received an expreſs from Sileſia, with the following news.

"The fortreſs of Schweidnitz was attacked on the 1ſt inſtant, at three in the morning. An attack was made at the ſame time on all the four out-works, which the troops that were ordered on this important coup de main approached with ſo much precaution, that they were not perceived by the enemy. They ſcaled all the four at the ſame time, and the troops which defended them had ſcarce time to fire a few cannon ſhot. On our ſide, not a gun was diſcharged; but in one of thoſe out-works the fire of the ſmall arms ſet fire to a powder magazine, which blew up, and on this occaſion about 300 of our men, and about the ſame number of the enemy, were killed. As ſoon as the out-works were carried, the troops prepared to aſſault the body of the place, which they entered, burſting open the gates, and at day-break they found themſelves maſters of the town, after firing a few ſhot. Five battalions, making about 3000 men, and Lieut. Gen. Zaſtrow, governor of the fortreſs, were made priſoners. We found in it a great number of cannon, and a large magazine of meal. Our loſs amounts, in the whole, to about 600 men." [Schweidnitz, the capital of the principality of the ſame name, is a ſtrong fortreſs, ſituated on the Weiſtritz, in one of the moſt delightful countries in Sileſia. Its ſtrength formerly conſiſted in a triple wall, but in 1748 King Frederick II. cauſed it to be fortified with regular and ſtrong works.]

Soubiſe's Army, October 6. On the firſt inſtant the troops under the Prince of Conde opened trenches before Meppen, and on the third, in the afternoon, the place capitulated. We found in it warlike ſtores, and a great quantity of effects and proviſions of all kinds, belonging to the Engliſh, and ſome magazines of hay, part of which was burnt by the obuſiers; unhappily the flames ſpread, and a great number of houſes have been burnt down. The garriſon conſiſted of 500 men, including 17 officers; and there were about 40 cannon mounted in it. [Meppen is the capital of a bailiwick of the ſame name, in the biſhoprick of Munſter, the north part of which joins to the Eaſt Frieſland. It is a place pretty well fortified. The town is much frequented, becauſe it lies in the road from Munſter to Embden, in long. from the Iſland of Fer 24. 25. lat. 52. 33.]

Genoa, Sept. 19. Our laſt letters from Spain adviſe, that the Engliſh Ambaſſador hath frequent conferences with the Miniſtry, on the difference that hath ariſen between the courts of Madrid and London, touching the Bay of Honduras; which affair the Catholic King wants to have ſettled ſoon.

Verſailles, Sept. 26. The King hath declared publickly the future marriage of Madame Adelaide, not Madame Victoire, with the King of Spain.

Paris, October 5. The naval armaments at Breſt and Rochefort are carrying on with great vigour. From the ſhips at both theſe ports a ſquadron is to be formed, that may effectually ſuccour our colonies at St. Domingo and Martinico. The governor of the latter has taken all the precautions that are poſſible, to prevent a ſcarcity of proviſions, in caſe that place ſhould be attacked. He hath cauſed a great quantity of millet, and other grain, to be ſowed, to ſupply the place of corn; and he has, beſides, ordered the inhabitants to lay in proviſions for ſix months, and hath forbidden their killing any oxen.

Conſtantinople, Sept. 2. A courier diſpatched by M. Roxin, the Pruſſian Miniſter, has been murdered on the road by a Janiſſary, who ſerved him for a guard and guide. The Janiſſary had been ſome years in M. Roxin's ſervice. The letters have been found, and brought back to the Pruſſian Miniſter. Several extraordinary councils have lately been held, but the reſult is kept a profound ſecret. Mean while, orders have been ſent to all ſea ports of the Turkiſh dominions, to hinder the exportation of corn; a ſcarcity of proviſions having been the occaſion of many diſorders in this empire.

LONDON.

Oct. 15. It is rumoured that the Lord Chancellor Henley is deſirous to retire from publick buſineſs; and that if he ſhould reſign, the great ſeal will be given to the Hon. Mr. Yorke, Solicitor General.

Some letters from the Hague of the 6th inſt. adviſe, that Prince Soubiſe was advanced to the Weſer to paſs it, in order to join the Duke de Broglio in the Electorate of Hanover. It is added, that General de Sporcken had deſired leave to reſign.

Orders are made out for breaking up the ſeveral camps, and appointing them their winter quarters.

A fleet is preparing to ſail, as it is ſuppoſed, for the French coaſt, with ſome land forces on board.

Letters from the Groyne of the 2d inſtant, bring an account, that the Right Hon. the Earl of Briſtol, Ambaſſador to the court of Madrid, hath wrote letters to all the Engliſh conſuls in Spain and Portugal, acquainting them, that there never was a better underſtanding nor greater harmony than there is at preſent, between his Britannic Majeſty and the court of Spain, notwithſtanding all the reports to the contrary; and that theſe reports have been only artful inſinuations of the French court to ſerve their own purpoſes.

On Monday the Right Hon. James Grenville, Eſq; brother to the Earl Temple, reſigned the office of cofferer.

It is now ſaid twelve millions is the ſum to be raiſed by ſubſcription for the ſervice of the next year, viz. 11,400,00*l.* at 3-1 half per cent. for forty years; 600,000*l. by lottery, and every ſubſcriber of* 100*l. to have a douceur of one, and an Engliſh long annuity.*

It is ſaid that the Right Hon. the Lord Grantham will be appointed Lord Privy Seal, the Earl of Hardwicke having declined that office. Others mention Lord Holderneſſe for it.

The motion to thank the King for rewarding William Pitt's ſervices, was not made in the common council, but in the previous meeting the night before, where it paſſed in the negative, 54 to 14.

Monday, and not before, the artificers of the dock-yard at Goſport began to work extra again, and they work a day and two tides.

Oct. 17. We hear that Admiral Rodney, who is going upon an expedition to the Weſt Indies, is to call at Belleiſle, to take five regiments along with him.

It is confirmed, that the city of Embden hath agreed to pay the French 30,000 ducats, on condition that they ſhall evacuate Eaſt-Frieſland, and not moleſt the inhabitants for the ſpace of ſix months.

Extract of a letter from Portſmouth, Oct. 15.

"On Wedneſday Admiral Rodney ſell down from Spithead to St. Helen's, with the fleet under his command of ſeven ſail, four of them of the line. We are ſtill in a very great hurry in our dock-yard."

The report of Lord Adam Gordon being to raiſe a regiment of Highlanders at this time, as mentioned lately in the papers, is without any foundation.

The Amity's Admonition tranſport, Scarborough, is arrived at Plymouth from Belleiſle. She came out under convoy of the Juno man of war, which it is ſuppoſed went to Portſmouth. She brings advice, that Morgan's and Iriſh Light Infantry are embarking, in 16 tranſports, for ſome expedition.

The Tartar,---, with brandy and ſalt, for North-America, is re-taken by the Florentine man of war, and ſent into Plymouth.

CHARLES-TOWN, South-Carolina, Nov. 21.

On Saturday laſt arrived in town Major Alexander Moneypenny, Captains Quintin Kennedy, and Charles French, with the four companies of the 17th and 22d regiments, that are to go to the Weſt-Indies; when the ſaid companies immediately embarked on board the tranſports formerly mentioned, which, with the Nightingale man of war, their convoy, are juſt now under ſail to go over the bar.

The time of ſervice for which Col. Middleton's regiment was raiſed being expired, moſt of the men have been diſcharged, and the reſt, we hear, will be ſo the 25th inſt. it being now thought the Cherokees will continue peaceable and quiet.

On Tueſday laſt Mr. Foſkey ſpoke with a Snow from Liſbon or Madeira, bound for Cape-Fear, John White maſter, which had been taken by a ſnow privateer, ſuppoſed to be the ſame that took Capt. Curtis. Captain White mentioned his having ranſomed the veſſel, but did not ſay for how much, nor when or where he was taken.

Laſt Tueſday evening a ſchooner of Mr. James Wilkie's, coming from the Indian-Land, ran aſhore and was loſt on North Ediſto breakers. None but the maſter, and one negroe, were ſaved. Mrs. Elizabeth Harry Garden, the wife of Benjamin Garden, Eſq; Miſs Mary Butler, and Mr. James Macpherſon, junior, paſſengers in ſaid ſchooner, and eight negroes, were drowned. The bodies of the two unfortunate ladies were found and brought to town next day.

It is reported, that a conſiderable number of Cherokee headmen and warriors are on their way down, to ratify the treaty which was concluded between his honour the Lieutenant-Governor and the Little Carpenter on the 23d of September laſt; and that they will reach this town within ten days.

Major Preſcot is arrived in town from the camp at Ninety-ſix. Captains Daniel, Pickman, Creighton, &c. and ſeveral other officers, are likewiſe come down. It is not yet certainly known when Col. Grant would move from Ninety-ſix; but it is probable that he is by this time at or near the Congarees, and, perhaps, the Cherokees with him.

Nov. 25. Several of the Cherokee Indians, that came down to re-ſettle the Lower Towns on the news of peace, left their baggage with Capt. M'Intoſh, and went to hunt for ſubſiſtance: Some parties of them were met by the white people, and they behaved on all ſuch occaſions as friends.

On Thurſday laſt a runner arrived at Ninety-ſix from Fort Prince George, with an account that Attakullakulla or the Little Carpenter, the prince of Chote, and ſeven other headmen, with a numerous retinue of men and women, were arrived there; and would be at Ninety-ſix about Sunday laſt.

On Sunday laſt put in here for proviſions, the ſloop Fortunatus, of and for New-York, one of the veſſels taken by the French frigate (formerly mentioned) and carried into the Havannah, where ſhe was purchaſed again by the former captain.

Conſiderable damage was done to the ſhipping in and about Bermuda, by a ſtorm which happened about the end of laſt month.

The ſnow Montgomery, Capt. Buchanan, who arrived here this day from Glaſgow, was taken the 14th inſt. in latitude 32, longitude 69, by a French frigate of 32 guns, and 250 men, and ranſomed for Four Hundred and Fifty Pounds ſterling.

Nov. 28. We now hear, that the march of the King's troops under Col. Grant, from Ninety-ſix downwards, depends upon the coming in of the Cherokee headmen, to ratify the treaty concluded between this government and Attakullakulla. That Cappy (Old Hopp's ſon) and ſome headmen, with a great number of beggarly attendants, had been ſome time arrived at fort Prince George, and may be here in about eight days, perhaps ſooner; but Occunnaſotah (the Great Warrior) the Standing Turkey, and Judd's Friend, ſtill avoid coming, and are either out hunting, or gone to ſome of the French forts: 'Tis ſaid theſe three leading men of the Cherokee nation are afraid to venture amongſt us, leſt they ſhould be impriſoned or put to death; but the moſt ſolemn aſſurances have been repeatedly given them that they ſhould not be hurt, notwithſtanding their infamous and inhuman conduct to the Fort Loudoun garriſon, &c. &c. Nevertheleſs there are grounds to believe that a peace will take place, the continuance of which will depend on a proper conduct in both parties.

'Tis currently reported that the Young Warrior of Eſtatowih has been ſupplied with goods, and even ammunition, from Auguſta; and 'tis affirmed that a quantity of goods are alſo gone from hence for the Cherokees, upon the proſpect of a peace being at hand with thoſe Indians.

Dec. 2. On Thurſday laſt ſailed for the Weſt-Indies, the Nightingale man of war, with the tranſports under her convoy, having on board the four companies of the 17th and 22d regiments commanded by Major Alexander Moneypenny. Silver-Heels, the Mohawk Indian, who came hither from the Northward, is gone along with Capt. Kennedy, of the 17th regiment, being determined to have another touch at the Great King's enemies.

On Monday put in here the ſchooner Two Friends, Iſaac Martin maſter, of and for Georgia from Jamaica. On the 26th of October he met with a violent hurricane at ſea, which he imagines has done great damage at Jamaica. After the gale was over, he ſaw an Engliſh 64 gun ſhip diſmaſted, but did not ſpeak with her. And on the 28th, he put in at the Grand Caymana's, where they had likewiſe ſuffered much by the gale. Here he took in Capt. William Few, of the brig Coffee and Pike, of and for North-Carolina from Jamaica, which had been wrecked there on the ſecond of the ſame month.

By Captain Prince George, in 14 Days from St. Chriſtophers, we hear a Report of a large Fleet being arrived from England at Barbados.

According to ſome late advices from the weſtward, it appears that Attakullakulla was in no very good humour at Fort Prince George, the 15th of laſt month, but that on the 16th he gave a talk, wherein he ſaid, "he was better pleaſed; that he had been all over the Nation, and they liked the Governor's talk; that he had promiſed to return to Charles-Town in 36 Days, but the warriors being out from home, had detained him longer; that the great warrior was gone out to war, but had left his brother to hear the talk, who liked it; that Willanawah was gone to Virginia; and that himſelf had brought eight headmen, and ſome young people with him." He deſires Lieut Col. Laurens and Capt. Stuart to meet him at the warrior's houſe at Gooſe-Creek; ſays he ſhall keep the ſtreight road down; and concludes, that thoſe Indians who have white priſoners, will not part with them, unleſs they receive a ranſom for them; and we hear they demand in goods the value of 150 lb. of deer ſkins for each.

'Tis reported, that ſince the above account, the headmen that came down to Fort Prince George with Attakullakulla, have quarrelled with, and left him there: And that Col. Grant has ſent an expreſs to Ninety ſix, to be informed whether the Indians intend to come down, and ratify the treaty, or not.

BOSTON, December 14.

Yeſterday arrived here Captain Church, in 13 Days from Louiſbourg, and informs, that his Excellency Brigadier General Whitmore, Governor of that Place, and Colonel of the 22d Regiment of Foot, embarked on board his Veſſel, in order to proceed hither, but that by contrary Winds they were obliged to put into Plymouth laſt Friday, when, between 11 and 12 o'Clock at Night, his Excellency occaſionally going out upon Deck, he by ſome Accident fell overboard, and was unfortunately drowned, no Body being upon Deck to give him any Aſſiſtance; his Body was taken up the next Morning, near the Gurnet, and is brought up by Captain Church, in order for a decent Interment: The Jury of Inqueſt, who ſat upon his Excellency's Body Yeſterday, brought in their Verdict, Accidental Death.

In Capt. Church came paſſenger from Louiſbourg, Capt. William Marſhall, of this town, late maſter and owner of the ſchooner Tryton, and informs, that on the 13th of November, on his paſſage from Cork for Quebec, he was caſt away on the Iſland of Gaſpey, about 12 leagues from Louiſbourg, and his veſſel and moſt of the cargoe loſt, but the crew ſaved, who with great difficulty got to Louiſbourg in their boat. He alſo informs, that 10 or 12 ſail of veſſels were caſt away near the ſame place, ſome of which were coming down from Quebec to Louiſbourg, and others bound up the river; among the latter was a large ſloop from the Weſt-Indies, whoſe crew all periſhed.

We hear from Nova-Scotia, that ſome time laſt month, Capt. Mackenzie, of Fort Cumberland, having armed two veſſels at Bay Vert, proceeded as far to the Northward as the Bay Chaleurs, in order to break up a neſt of French vermin on that coaſt, who have done us ſo much miſchief theſe two or three years paſt, in intercepting our veſſels bound to Halifax, Louiſbourg, and the river St. Lawrence, which he happily effected; and having taken about 240 men, women and children priſoners, brought them to Bay Vert, together with 8 or 10 ſmall veſſels, laden with their effects. All the other ſmall craft upon the coaſt he deſtroyed, ſo that there need be no apprehenſion of any interruption in going up the river next year, as all the ringleaders of the miſchief hitherto done, with their families, are now priſoners.

PORTSMOUTH, New-Hampſhire, Dec. 11.

Captain Samuel Froſt arrived here laſt Monday in 26 days from Martinico, in a flag of truce, having been there, and redeemed three hoſtages, given for 3 ſeveral veſſels belonging to this port, taken and ranſomed. By him we have the following intelligence: He left Martinico the 5th of November: Captain King in a letter of marque brig from this port was taken; alſo Capt. Samuel Bulfinch in a ſhip from hence; the privateer had brought in ſome of his men, but as the ſhip was not arrived, it is ſuppoſed ſhe was retaken.

Commodore Douglaſs has, by proclamation, given great encouragement to Engliſh privateers, that they ſhall have all the plunder they can get at Martinico; which was not allowed at Guadaloupe: In conſequence of which, near 100 ſail of Engliſh privateers were cruiſing in the Weſt Indies. They were making great preparations to receive the Engliſh forces, and had encamped their women and children in the country. They received Capt. Froſt with a file of muſqueteers, and kept a conſtant guard upon him, aſking him many queſtions, but received no ſatisfactory anſwer.

PHILADELPHIA, December 31.

On Monday next the GENERAL ASSEMBLY of this Province meets here.

The Clarendon, Captain Carr, from London; Captain Arthur, from Madeira; and Captain Smith, from New-York, are arrived at the Capes.

The Sloop Penington, Captain Cleague, from this Port for Antigua, was taken by a ten Gun French Privateer, and ſent to Martinico.

Arrived from this Place, Captain Raſh at Antigua; and Captain Forbes at Londonderry.

Some Letters from Londonderry, dated about the End of October, mention the Report of a Spaniſh War being over.
